$1.2 Million Action Filed

Foreclosure on Famed Minnewaska

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

A foreclosure action in the amount of $1.2 million dollars has been filed in Supreme Court against Lake Minnewaska Mountain Houses and Ski-Minne Inc.

The 107 parcels of land involved have been the subject of a recent gigantic effort on the part of many to save the desirous Shawangunk Mountain resort property from falling into the hands of commercial developers and to seek its development as a public park.

The foreclosure action, commenced Sept. 3 was brought by the County National Bank of Newburgh which is being represented by attorney Augustus W. Bennet of Newburgh.

According to Ulster County records, a summons and complaint have been served on the defendants and on Oct. 3 a notice of a motion to dismiss the complaint was also filed. It is returnable in Supreme Court in November. Lake Minnewaska is owned by Kenneth B. and Lucille Phillips.

The actions cover Lake Minnewaska properties in the Towns of Rochester, Gardiner and Wawarsing and seek foreclosure on four mortgages in the amounts of $235,000, $150,000, $646,000 and $506,672 consolidated to constitute one single mortgage lien of $1.2 million.

The fiscal affairs and future development of Minnewaska received state-wide attention last summer when more than 40 federal state and local officials met with conservation organizations at a Mid-Hudson Pattern for Progress meeting urging the state to give priority to acquire between 5,000 and 7,000 acres of the resort for a public park.

Mid-Hudson Pattern for Progress is but one of many organizations interested in the future of the 10,500 acre preserve.

When word went out earlier this year that some of the land was for sale, developers, conservationists and legislators indicated interest including Assemblyman H. Clark Bell and State Sen. Jay P. Rolison.

Special

Meanwhile, the banks involved, sensing the value in careful and considered planning, held off graciously until a mutally satisfactory plan could be conceived.

It was thought that the property would be used to provide public open space to help meet the recreational needs of rapidly growing populations in the Mid-Hudson and the greater New York Metropolitan area and also as a means of structuring future regional development.

Phillips had emphasized that he was being highly selective in choosing prospective buyers —not wanting to sell to anyone "who would tear this mountain apart" — and that a public park would be a good use for the Lake Awosting area of the resort property.

In the interim, The Freeman learned that at least one representative for a potential developer from out of state was in Ulster County for several days making extensive inquiries into the site as a possible location for housing development.

Minnewaska's location in terms of new development in the New York City Metropolitan area is comparable in significance to that of Bear Mountain - Harriman State Parks in the 1920's — both about 50 miles to the south.

In keeping with state planning policy, the preservation of the Shawangunks would create a permanent open space as a visual background for the large scale settlement projected in the Wallkill and Rondout Valleys.

For the state recreation system, the Lake Awosting areas would have offered additional lake swimming, primitive camping, scenic vistas, picnic grounds and the unique opportunity to tap an existing system of 95 miles of trails and 115 miles of carriage roads along the mountains.

Pattern for Progress, a private, non-profit regional planning, research and development corporation, which urged the state purchase is specifically concerned with helping to guide the orderly future development of the seven-county Mid-Hudson region which takes in Ulster, Dutchess, Greene, Columbia Orange, Putnam and Sullivan Counties.

Mayoral Candidates Give Facts to Policemen

TYRRELL

KOENIG

SINGER

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON

Kingston police officers gathered in the city courtroom Thursday night to hear the three mayoral candidates tell them what they would do for the police department if they were elected mayor on Nov. 4.

The Kingston Patrolmen's Association (KPA) sponsored the meeting and 35 off-duty policmen heard the three mayoral candidates, Francis R. Koeing (Democrat-Liberal), Bernard Singer (Conservative) and James J. Tyrrell (Republican), give their views on police matters which were broken down into nine separate categories.

The candidates, who appeared separately for 30 minutes each, were questioned by Louis Sapp, chairman of the KPA Negotiating Committee for the 1970 contract with the city, and Meyer Levy, president of the KPA. Questions from individual police officers in the audience were also fielded by the candidates.

The main areas of discussion were: the 20-year retirement plan (the department now has a 25 year plan); Blue Cross benefits (the department wants the city to pay the 43 per cent increase recently announced); overtime (the police are now paid straight time for overtime, they want time and half); personal leave (the officers now get three days personal leave at $20 a day—they want four days at $25); Uniform allowances (the police get $150 a year each at present—they are asking for $200 a year) vacations (they want an extra week in all categories); salaries (the police outlined their desired increases); and the police commission (they would like a representative from the department on the Board of Police Commissioners).

Koenig was the first speaker, followed by Singer who was followed by Tyrrell.

20-Year Retirement

All three candidates appeared to be in favor of the 20-year retirement plan, although to varying degrees. Koenig said he hadn't seen the cost figures on it (estimated at $80,000 a year beginning in 1972) but would recommend it to the Common Council if it were reasonable. Singer said, "If others have it, I don't see why we can't have it. Tyrrell termed it a top priority item and said he would fight for it.

This was the last item on the agenda and apparently the most important to the police officers. Chief Francis Fagan said, "We have to be competitive with other police agencies. We've lost seven men to the State Police (because the state pays higher) in the past few years. There are men going to the community college taking the criminology course. This would make them excellent officers. But they won't come to Kingston. We don't pay enough."

Singer asked the police, "If you're paid more, will you give more?" Levy answered, "We'll be able to give more because we'll attract a better caliber of men in the future. We've got good men now but how long can we keep them? We stay because we love the work but we don't want to have to suffer."

Sapp cited the report that Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan expected an $8 per thousand tax cut in 1970 and asked each candidate if they would be agreeable to cutting taxes five dollars and raising salaries with the other three. All three agreed

Legislators Snared on Airport

KINGSTON

Discussion of a county airport, mail room and parking lot provoked the most controversy at Thursday night's meeting of the County Legislature.

Only the sponsor of a resolution calling for a reevaluation of the Hurley Mountain airport site, Joseph Martorana (R-Dist. 9) voted for it. When the measure reached the floor, five or more legislators jumped to their feet and subsequently had their say.

Clarence Raichle (R-City) said, "I want to see a jail built, the infirmary built. They have priority . . . Then maybe in three or four years we can consider an airport," Raichle also said he would like to hear a report of the Industrial Development Committee first. "We are moving too fast," he suggested.

The chairman of that committee, Eugene Noe (R-Dist. 9) replied that the Airport Commission has not yet supplied all the necessary information to his committee.

Brian White (R-Dist. 9) asked how it was possible to have a reevaluation before a site has been recommended?

Woodstock Legislator William West (R-Dist. 12) suggested that the measure would be "discourteous" in view of the fact that a report has not yet been made and Legislator Lester C. Elmendorf (R-Dist. 2) questioned whether there would be enough money available to study a second site. "It is not conceivable to reevaluate now," he said.

Majority Leader Douglas V. Dye (R-Dist 2) suggested that a lot of people are getting concerned about a site where there isn't any data on 'need.' That's putting the cart before the horse."

The subject of a mail room for the County Office Building, proposed by E. Stirling Potter (R-Dist. 7) in behalf of the Operational Efficiency Committee, brought forth comments ranging from "I don't go for it," to "It's long overdue."

Legislator West made a motion to amend the resolution and refer it back to the Operational Efficiency Committee and to the county Audit Committee. The board voted 27-5 to do just that.

Legislator Raichle said he had written to Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. requesting a mail drop in the County Office Building, which he feels is all that is necessary in view of the fact that the building is a short distance between the Uptown Post Office and a mail box on Main Street.

Minority Leader Roger Mabie (D-Dist. 7) spoke in favor of the mail room, said it was long overdue and voted against the amendment.

Another resolution to consider the conversion of the parking lot located on the Court House property to a time recorder system also prompted spirited discussion with Mabie making a strong pitch to have the facility maintained as is. He said he has looked into the matter and has determined that the parking lot is being handled now "most economically." He said the present parking facility realized $7,000 a year profit.

Dye countered saying it was capable of bringing in $17,000 a year, adding that he was in favor of "taking a look" at the new proposition.

Those favoring study of the conversion suggested it would aid uptown merchants by keeping the flow of traffic moving. Others suggested the parking lot was needed for jurors and those on court business.

"I served on that jury and I never found a parking spot yet," said Legislator Frank Miller (R-Dist. 2). Mabie disagreed.

The board voted 29-9 to study the suggestion which was advanced by the five Republican city legislators, Addison Jones, Samuel Perry, John Sangaline, Wendell E. Scherer and Raichle.

In other business the board voted to:

- Consider establishing an office for consumer protection under the jurisdiction of the district attorney's office.
- Suspend a local law which stipulates the date the budget officer must file a tentative budget.
- Ask Sen. Jacob K. Javits, Sen. Charles E. Goodell and Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. as well as the Postmaster General of the United States to do whatever is possible to stop the flow of immoral mail to unsolicited addresses.
- Authorize the county auditor and purchasing agent to maintain inventory of county owned personal property on a current basis.
- Seek the installation of automatic flashing light signals at Mowray crossing in Ardonia.
- Ask the state to consider a long-range plan for installation of automatic flashing light signals at all railroad crossings throughout the state.
- Ask the Public Service Commission to investigate railroad accidents to prevent recurrence and to protect rights of private citizens affected by such accidents.
- Establish a county highway safety system.

Another resolution to create a Mid-Hudson Valley Transportation Authority was defeated, 22-10.

A Breakthrough for Urban Renewal

The Kingston Urban Renewal Agency marked the first private redevelopment project in the Broadway East area with groundbreaking ceremonies on Thursday. Stakeout at Ellenville Nabs Two Bank Suspects

By WALTER S. CLARK

ELLENVILLE

Combined efforts of village and state police to stem a rash of burglaries that have plagued authorities in this area for weeks, resulted in the capture Thursday night of two suspects and frustrated a bold attempt to burglarize a local bank.

Through pre-arranged plans that had been under study for some time by police officials, five village police officers and seven state troopers staked out several business places and banks in the community last night. The stores and banks were put under close surveillance by the authorities as the well-planned operation got under way.

Shortly before midnight the efforts of authorities paid off.

Two young men were reportedly caught inside the Ellenville National Bank drive-in office on Main Street in this village.

The suspects were identified as George Cathcart, 24, and 17-year-old Richard Dupont, who both reside at 66 North Main Street.

The pair was surprised as Police Chief Abe Rand and BCI Investigator Michael Mahoney entered the bank's drive-in office and took them in custody, presumably at gunpoint.

Cathcart and Dupont were taken to the Ellenville State Police substation where they were fingerprinted and photographed.

Early today they were brought before Police Justice Ronald Elias for arraignment on charges of third degree burglary. Judge Elias said he would assign counsel for each of the defendants before they are returned to court for further proceedings on the charges.

Elias fixed bail at $10,000 for each of the accused men. In lieu of bail they both were ordered committed to the Ulster County jail. They were to reappear in court later today.

Authorities did not say whether any tools were found in possession of the two men.

Chief Rand said the bank drive-in office, which is located in the heart of the business district of the village, had been entered through a window on the east side of the building.

According to Rand, the recent burglaries had been under investigation, and he and Investigator Mahoney got together and mapped out plans for an extensive stakeout of business places and banks in the community.

Last night was selected for the concentrated vigil of business establishments, and troopers and police officers were assigned to individual places.

Before the crackdown began, Rand said, the Federal Bureau of Investigation was informed of the plan. The Ellenville National Bank comes under the Federal Reserve.

Participating in the plan, under the direction of Rand and Mahoney, were Officers Norman Green, Jack Furman, Leonard Quick Jr., and John Corwin of the village police, and BCI Investigtor Reichman, Sgt. Joseph Ellsworth and Troopers John Hayes, J. P. Dunning, William Ingellis and J. T. Wilson of the state police.

Find Body Of Hunter

TOWN OF ESOPUS

The body of 40-year-old Harry Lyons, father of seven, of 250 Broadway, Port Ewen, who drowned while duck hunting on Aero Lake last Monday, was recovered shortly before 1 p.m. today.

Sheriff William B. Martin said State Police scuba divers and Port Ewen volunteer firemen took the body from the water about 100 yards from where Lyons' boat was found capsized.

High Falls Dedication Rites Saturday of Five D&H Locks

By JEAN DOLAN

HIGH FALLS

October's brightest foliage will serve as colorful backdrop for dedication festivities of national scope at High Falls village green Saturday morning.

At 11 a.m. formal dedication of the five locks of the old Delaware and Hudson Canal as a National Historic Landmark will take place. Area historic societies are combining efforts for an entire day of festival and celebration.

Nature Walk First

A nature walk sponsored by the John Burroughs Natural History Society will start the day at 9:30 a.m. The walk will be repeated after lunch for the benefit of a bus group coming from Orange County and for those who missed the first trip. Daniel Smiley of Lake Mohonk will lead the tour which starts at the High Falls Bridge and will explore the theme, Nature's Answer to the Canal.

Participating in the dedication service will be Grace Elliott, chairman of the board of the Delaware & Hudson Canal Historical Society, who will accept the plaque from Henry D. Schmidt, superintendent of the Fire Island National Seashore and the New York City National Park Service Group. Paul M. Sturges, president of the canal society and Donald G. Ross, past president will take part also. Manville B. Wakefield, Sullivan County Historian and author of Coalboats to Tidewater will speak on the boom days of High Falls and Katharine Terwilliger, Town of Wawarsing Historian will speak on From Here to Ellenville.

Those attending the dedication are advised to bring chairs and their lunch if they plan to take part in the full day of activities. Picnic will be held at Grady Park at noon.

Throughout the day members of the High Falls Happy Homemakers 4-H Club will be making apple butter over an open fire near the Reformed Church. Other old time goodies will be offered at the firehall where apple cider and ginger snaps will be served.

A photography contest will be judged at the DePuy Canal Tavern at 3 p.m.

Extra Attractions

Candlemaking and broom-making demonstrations will be staged by Dorothy Lynch and Robert Hamm respectively.

The High Falls Tercentenary Committee which has overseen a full year of activities marking the 300th anniversary of the founding of the hamlet has arranged the extra attractions for the day of dedication.

Final event of the day will be the annual banquet of the D&H Canal Historical Society at the Alpine. Mrs. Elizabeth Ruffner of High Falls is in charge of reservations for the dinner. Virginia V. Smiley of the society's preservation committee made the dedication arrangements.

The five locks and the 5,000 foot water filled section of the old canal in Alligerville were designated as National Historic Landmarks last November.

AT LOCK 16 — Viewing the keystone at Lock 16 of the old Delaware and Hudson Canal are (L-R) Harry L. Rinker, president of the Pennsylvania Canal Society; Grace Elliott, chairman of the board of the D&H Canal Historical Society and Paul M. Sturges, president of the local society. The site will be the scene of formal dedication ceremonies Saturday 11 a.m. when five locks are officially designated as a National Historic Landmark. (Freeman photo by Haines)

Check Forging Reverberations

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

KINGSTON

The theft of 161 blank checks from a Wappingers Falls firm recently and an alert by the Orange County Bankers Association had reverberations in the Town of Ulster this week where an attempt was made to pass a $240 check.

Kenneth C. Pratt, executive vice president of Kingston Trust Company, Main Street, said the association alert noted that 161 checks were stolen from the K-9 Food Service Inc., and the checks were payable at Marine Midland National Bank of Southeastern New York, Poughkeepsie.

One of the forged checks was passed in the Fishkill area. The amount was cut with a bonded checkwriter which gives it an authentic appearance, Pratt said. A confidence man was also reported operating in the Newburgh area, Pratt added.

The incident described by Pratt at Kingston Trust's Town of Ulster Branch went like this: A man drove up to the drive-in teller's window. He told the teller that someone in the bank had cashed a check for his wife the day before and gave her an overpayment of $4. The teller checked and found the shortage of $4 and returned the money to the man. As a second thought, the man asked if he could cash a check for $240. After checking, the teller determined the man had no account, and she refused to cash the check. The man drove away.

Pratt said the man was about 25 years old, five feet, eight or nine with average build. He had brown hair and wore glasses.

A few weeks ago a similar alert noted that stolen blank checks were being passed in several banks in the Hudson Valley, including one in Ellenville.

Devine School Bids Due Nov. 6

KINGSTON

Sealed proposals for furnishing labor and materials for the new 14-room Anna Devine School and connecting corridor to the existing building on the Rifton-Esopus Road, Town of Esopus will be opened Nov. 6.

Harry Halverson, of Harry Halverson Associates, architects for the new school, noted that building will include a gymnasium, cafeteria and other areas in addition to the classrooms.

Plans and specifications for the six contracts which include general construction, electric, plumbing, heating and ventilating, sprinkler system and kitchen equipment may be seen by contractors at the architect's offices at 239 Fair Street.

Two sets of plans and specifications will be issued to each bidder. Each proposal, for each of the six contracts, must be accompanied by a bid bond or certified check on a National Bank or Trust Company, for five percent of the contract price made payable to the Board of Education, Kingston City Schools (Consolidated) as security.

Plans and specifications also will be on file in the Dodge Plan Rooms in Albany and New York City and with Eastern New York Construction Employers, Inc., in Albany.

The opening of bids next month will take place at the Board of Education offices in the George Washington School on Wall Street.

Trooper Nabs 'Name' Man

ELLENVILLE

A 27-year-old man was in custody today as the result of the alertness of a state trooper from the local substation.

Trooper Douglas Dymond arrested the man, who authorities said reportedly uses at least seven names. He was booked as Harry Erlwine, who has no permanent address.

Erlwine was wanted by the Cortland police in connection with a burglary in that community. Erlwine was ordered held in custody pending arrival of police from that township.

Guard Shot In $10,143 Store Robbery

AUBURN, N.Y. (UPI) — A security guard received a minor gunshot wound and the assistant manager of a store was knocked unconscious in an armed robbery Thursday evening that netted $10,143.95 in cash and checks.

Police said two men were believed involved, although only one man showed himself.

Michael Shoor, assistant manager of Nichols Discount Center, and William Gross, a security guard for Corgnell's Patrol Agency, had taken the day's receipts to their car, when a man popped up from the back seat. The man motioned for them to drive to a field about a mile from the store and then relieved them of the money.

Shoor was knocked out when he was slugged in the back of the head, and Gross was grazed in the left thigh. Neither man was seriously hurt.

Police said the man or men involved then drove the car back to the store's parking lot, just outside of Auburn, and got away in another car.

The loot included $2,683 in cash and the rest in checks.

Denies Report

TOKYO (UPI)—Hanoi's official news agency today denied a report that the United States and North Vietnam have been holding secret contacts to seek an end to the war. "This is but a maneuver taken by the Nixon administrattion to evade public opinion in the United States and the world," a broadcast said.

"...and after you unload the washing machine and you carry the heavy basket upstairs and out back and put up the clothesline, find the pins and then stoop and hang and stoop and hang until you think your back's going to break and after that you sit around hoping things will dry before it starts to rain or the kids splash mud or some bird–well, you know–and if you're lucky, in three or four hours you can go out and take them all off again and lug everything inside–THEN you're ready to start ironing. Marbletown Businessmen Map The Attack on Revised Zoning

By SHANE CROSBY

STONE RIDGE

Legal plans for the Marbletown Businessmen's Association to oppose the proposed revised Zoning Ordinance for the township are being developed following consultation with a Kingston attorney, a spokesman said today.

Awaits Results

"No comment" was the answer to what plans are being made with the businessmen's lawyer, Louis A. DiDonna, who the spokesman said, is waiting for results of a questionnaire being given to 2,170 registered voters in Marbletown.

Vernon Stoutenburgh of the association said the questionnaire is a duplicate of one sent recently to 74 members and "people who have affiliated themselves" with the businessmen.

He said DiDonna spoke with the businessmen at a meeting here Thursday night to lay groundwork for the legal battle brewing as the town's Zoning Commission nears the end of its drafting of the ordinance. A final hearing by the commission is scheduled for Oct. 16 at 8 p.m. in the Marbletown School.

The registration records of the township will be used by members in seeking names of residents, Stoutenburgh said. He said the membership of the association, now at about 100, "feels the questionnaire is fair and open-minded." A house-to-house canvass is planned by the members who are intent on "not missing one home" in Marbletown, Stoutenburgh said.

Results of the association's previous questionnaire were given by the spokesman who said 74 out of 74 replied to the questions.

The results showed that all 74 were "against the presently proposed ordinance" and that:

- "More study was felt needed by both the townspeople and board alike"—66 out of 67;
- "Not enough opportunity" has been given by the planning board for people "to be adequately heard" at hearings—56 out of 66;
- and, local ordinances "not as broad in scope as the zoning ordinance" should be considered as an alternative, 54 out of 66.

Stoutenburgh said the three responses were "examples" of the answers given to a long list of questions.

The new revised ordinance was brought before the public for the first time, after six months of behind the scene work at a public hearing in mid-September. The businessmen noted that "only one" copy of the proposal is available in the town hall in Stone Ridge and "it is not to be taken out of the town had for any reason," said Stoutenburgh. He said "if you can't absorb it in the hall, that is it, you can't take it home."

The ordinance book is 74 pages long with an appended section on new amendments, he said. The Town Development Plan is another book of 161 pages, he said, and "there is only one of those."

The association, saying "the ordinance is not in the best interest of the town's citizens," named DiDonna as attorney at last week's meeting. They said "it is with regret that we have to resort to this action to wake up those responsible for proposing this zoning ordinance."

Stoutenburgh said he will call on the town board to hold as many as four special hearings after the Zoning Commission turns the ordinance over to the town for adoption.

The Zoning Commission is expected to turn the ordinance over to the township after the Oct. 16 hearing. Law stipulates that the town must hold a hearing before voting on the ordinance at a public session. Stoutenburgh said more than one, and as many as four, should be held to become "better informed by the people, not just the board, as to what is wanted."

Vandals Had a Busy Night

KINGSTON

Detectives and uniformed police today combined their efforts seeking clues that might lead to the apprenhension of vandals who roamed through downtown streets, sprayed at least a dozen parked vehicles with black paint and caused other damage Thursday night.

It was one of the worst cases of malicious mischief brought to attention of authorities in the city in many months.

Complaints were received about apples being thrown at homes, and others informed police that radio antennas had been ripped from parked cars. Most of the vandalism was reported in the vicinity of Abruyn and Grove Streets, and took in First Avenue and Henry Street.

Seven complaints were made by residents last night and more were recorded after daybreak when car owners discovered their vehicles had been sprayed with black paint.

Det. Lieut. Charles McCullough and other police officials joined in the investigation hoping to uncover information leading to arrests. Police called upon the public to report any leads that might aid in apprehension of the vandals.

Mrs. Robert Terwilliger of 1142 Dogwood Street complained that her car had been sprayed with paint and the radio antenna had been bent. Other complaints involving the paint spraying came from Herbert C. Wolff of 89 Abruyn Street; Charles E. Lawrence of 19 Abruyn, Edith Lawrence of R.D. 6, Box 47E, Kingston; Aaron B. Bahl of 645 Jean Place, Mark Greenspan of 246 Pearl Street, Michael L. Naccarato of 27 Abruyn Street and John Alecca of 8 Ponckhockie Street, Ponckhockie.

Complaints of black paint spraying of cars received at headquarters this morning came from Mary Ann Williams of 91 First Avenue, whose car was parked in front of her home when it was sprayed; Gail Acker of 40 Abruyn Street, who reported paint had been sprayed on the back of a school bus owned by her uncle, and Mrs. Harry Freer of 173 Henry Street, who complained that someone broke the radio antenna off her car.

KTF Proposals To the Board

KINGSTON

A spokesman for the Kingston Teachers' Federation today charged the Board of Education of the Consolidated school district has indicated no desire to work with the teachers to end a stoppage of all voluntary participation by the the professional staff in after-school activities.

The comment of Richard Davis, KTF president, came after a meeting of the federation's executive committee with Board membrs Thursday night at which the KTF indicated willingness to reverse its stand pending certain actions by the Board.

The KTF at the session called for Board consideration of four matters: 1—Restoration of the dental hygiene program this year. 2—Establishment of a late bus for the M. Clifford Miller School children who wish to participate in after-school activities. (This bus service to be made available this year) 3—a thorough study by the Board, administration and the Federation be made jointly concerning the reestablishment of the humanities program at the high school and reduce class loads for English teachers for 1970-71. 4—A pooling of the resources of the Federation and the Board to bring pressure on the State Legislature to increase state aid to education.

The Federation also requested that a joint committee of the KFT, Central administration and the Board review the present budget in hopes of finding funds to finance the proposals.

Davis noted that after a brief discussion of the requests, Board members met in executive session, after which Arthur Withall, board president stated the Board's position on each of the four items.

The KTF president reported that Withall pointed out that the Board's decision to eliminate the dental program was made with full knowledge of the program's merits.

A KTF statement noted that the Board agreed to some type of informal discussions with the State Education Department concerning the legality of running a late bus for students at the Miller School. It was noted that the Board has expressed concern that it might be legally obligated to run such a bus at all schools if the request for the late bus at Miller school is granted.

The KTF contends that the situation at the Miller school "is unique" because pupil assignments to the school is such that many pupils must travel great distances to and from school.

Democratic 'Smoke Screen' Charged by Candidate Tyrrell

KINGSTON James J. Tyrrell, Republican candidate for mayor of Kingston, said today that the "basic facts about the city's dealings with Wainscott Sand Corporation have been presented to the public and the residents of the city will cast the deciding vote."

Tyrrell said he did not intend to involve himself in personality conflicts with R. Abel Garraghan but does intend to inform the residents of the "smoke screen" presented by the Democratic administration.

Tyrrell also called for a full time mayoral salary to be paid to a full time mayor. The candidate explained that he did not want the salary increased over the present $15,000. "The salary is sufficient," he said, "What we need is a man in office that earns it."

Tyrrell said the office of mayor in the 70's would require total commitment by the man in the job. "The days are gone when man in office could be mayor in the morning and operate his own business in the afternoon," Tyrrell said.

In reference to the Wainscott transaction, Tyrrell said, "The city paid bills for urban renewal without the approval of the Common Council, amounting to over $1,000. The chairman of the auditing committee Emillio Primo (D)-8th Ward, has not offered a public explanation of these bills, but everyone except him has attempted to mislead the public; when the contract should have been put out to competitive bid. The fill came from the Mayor's son indirectly and should have been questioned. The mayor's son admitted this without public disclosure. A request to place the transaction before the state Department of Audit and Control has been ignored.

"The corporation counsel was present when the Common Council was questioned about the matter and did not offer an explanation until the next day when he could use the newspaper headlines to deceive the public. The same man (Aaron Klein) told a member of the Auditing Committee one thing (the bills were paid by mistake) and the residents another, (that the bills were paid in a legal manner)"

Tyrrell said "Anyone can break down contracts over $1,000 into separate payments in order to prevent public bid, but when you are caught it is rather embarrassing."

Tyrrell concluded, "Name calling and campaigns against a radio program do not provide answers. I refuse to get involved with these people (Abel Garraghan and his father), who lower political participation.

SEEK HOUSING MARKET MONEY—Four representatives of the home building industry of the Hudson Valley visited Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. in Washington recently urging his support in seeking aid in their fight to get money into the housing market. Congressman Fish said he would do all in his power to increase the flow of money into the housing market. Shaking hands with Fish is left, Samuel Hankin, James Hetrschdrofcer, both of Poughkeepsie; Charles Alpert of Wappingers Falls and Victor Candy of Cornwall.

Youth Commission Favored by Koenig

KINGSTON Francis R. Koenig, Democrat-Liberal candidate for mayor, said today that if elected he would create a youth commission or youth council of persons from 17 to 21, selected from representative groups and organizations.

"For our youth, who indeed are our future, I will exert the influence of the mayor's office to involve them, not only in matters of recreation and sport, but in all areas where they could contribute their thoughts, their vocal expressions, their talents and their actual participation in some phase of governmental activity. The youth council would provide a forum in which they could express, to the mayor and elected officials, their views, their thoughts and their hopes and plans," Koenig said.

"Now is the time we must look to the '70s," the candidate continued, "and our youth must be encouraged to return to their hometown after finishing school and service. By their participation and involvement now, directly in phases of government, we can make them part of the community and instill in them a desire to return and accept the challenges of helping to shape the city's future."

The candidate concluded, "I firmly believe that such an undertaking may not only help to bridge this wide communication gap which exists, but it could well give our officials the benefit of fresh, vigorous, forward-looking concepts, and it could also be of real educational value for the young people, who could learn about the workings of their city government, a government with which they will be so deeply involved in a few years, both as voting and tax-paying citizens."

Liberal Leader Shows Concern

KINGSTON Ronald F. Woods, chairman of the Liberal Party in Kingston, has expressed "deep concern" as to why the proposed Albert Brown Recreation Center in Broadway East is not being built.

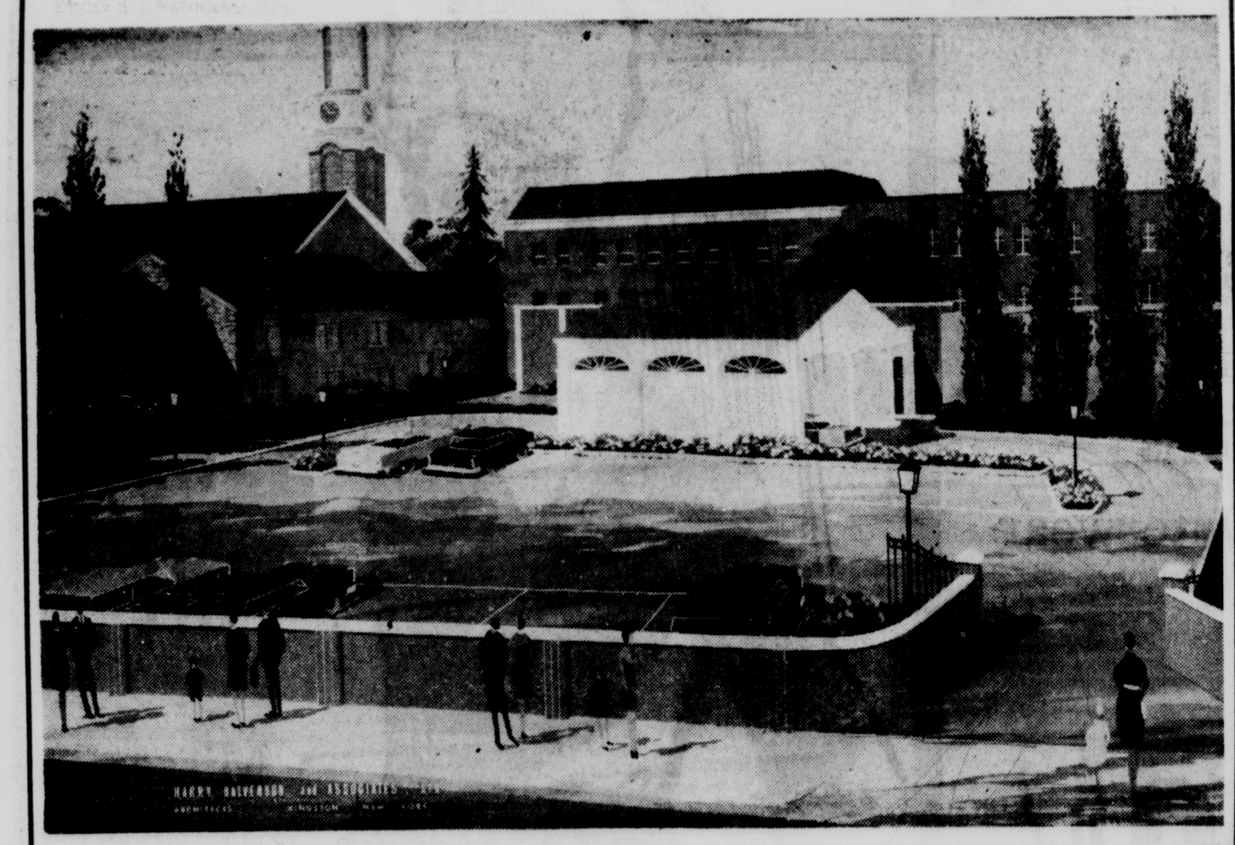

Brown was a Kingston police officer and Rondout neighborhood organizer who was killed in an automobile accident in October 1967. The Common Council voted to name the building after him several months later and overrode subsequently Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan's veto of the legislation.

Woods said, "In 1967, the mayor, Kingston Housing Authority, Common Council and federal government all went on record as favoring the construction of a new Recreation Center in the urban renewal area of our city and the funds were appropriated for the project. We are deeply concerned as to why there is some type of delay in constructing the recreation complex. There has not been any report given to the public on this matter and we would like to know what phase this project is now in.

"Certainly there must be some problems that have developed and we must attempt to analyze the possible solutions. We believe the Al Brown Recreation Center would be of great significance for the welfare and progress of the urban renewal area and of the city. We are fortunate in Kingston in that the great majority of our youngsters are good boys and girls and they deserve every opportunity to remain so. A new recreation center would give our boys and girls that chance. It would provide wholesome fun for their leisure time, healthful outlets for their excess energy, proper instruction and the opportunity to acquire useful hobbies and to learn skills and handicrafts.

"Kingston has a challenging opportunity for service in the years to come and we ask that all candidates for public office show that they are ready to meet that challenge. The new recreation center will repay its cost many times over in building good citizens. We cannot close a doorway through which a growing child can be made aware that there is interest, sympathy and a friendly interest. This is why we include the construction of the new recreation center as a part of our city program for the coming year," Woods concluded.

Tivoli Village to Keep White Claykill Dam

Mayor Mortimer Appel has reiterated his statement that no action would be taken by the village to take down the Tivoli dam on White Claykill.

The reason stated was that "no funds, to my knowledge, are available to the village for this." A team of engineers and ecologists inspected the crumbling concrete dam two weeks ago, and termed it in "total disrepair," recommending that the water level be dropped to decrease pressure.

Mayor Appel said that he was not in favor of lowering the water level, preferring to keep it as an emergency fire protection source. The water came in very handy during last year's bad winter weather when water pressure in the village system dropped radically.

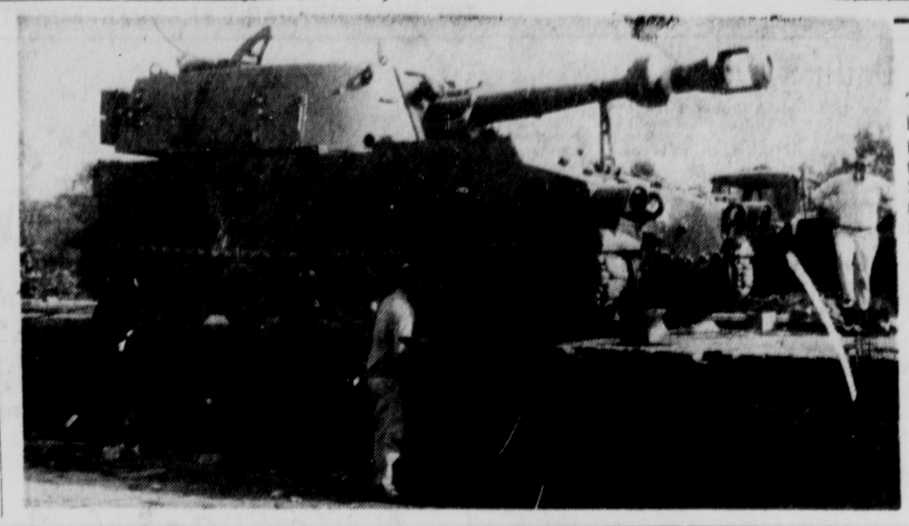

The dam was built privately. "I don't want to see it go," said Appel, "but the amount of water in the reservoir wouldn't do any appreciable damage down below. The only danger would be to flood the beds in the secondary sewerage plant, creating no great harm."

At the Village Board meeting this week it was learned that Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp. had not yet responded to a request to buy 2½ acres for that secondary sewerage plant.

Mayor Appel also said that a private individual interested in developing the village-owned Tivoli Acres lots had not to date exercised an option. The individual's plans include paving streets which already have water and sewer lines.

The Tivoli program to tear down all ancient and abandoned buildings has progressed quite satisfactorily, according to the mayor, with another just torn down before the cold weather may halt operations.

Town property at the end of North Road, long an eyesore, will probably be cleared off "when the town gets done with resurfacing roads for the season," he said, noting that not enough men are available to accomplish both projects at once.

Armory Bound

This new 155 self-propelled howitzer from Germany will be quartered at the 1st Battalion, 156th Artillery in the State Armory on Manor Avenue for howitzer firing training. Workmen are shown unloading the 44,678-pound weapon at the Greenkill Avenue siding of the Penn Central Railroad. CW-4 Thomas W. Miller, information officer at the armory said the equipment is one of three to be delivered to the 156th Artillery unit. Two will be quartered in the armory at Newburgh. The Poughkeepsie unit will use the howitzers in Kingston or Newburgh for training. (Photo by Gilbert E. Gray)

A Beneficial Program In Red Hook Community

RED HOOK

A couple of Bard College students have begun what is turning into a very beneficial program of tutoring in the Red Hook community.

Last spring Fran Hassen of Bard approached the Red Hook Central School administration with the idea of allowing Bard students to tutor high school students in almost any subject.

District Principal Russell Keefe received the idea enthusiastically, put it before the Board of Education, and condoned it. The project did not get started until the last month of school, but an expanded and highly modified program of tutoring started this week.

"We made the school available evenings last year," said Keefe to The Freeman, "but are urging our students to make contact with the Bard students at the college this year. This tutoring is on a one-to-one basis. We have made it known to our students that this is available, and if they have their parents' consent they may proceed on their own."

Keefe also said that more tutoring from high school teachers will be available this year because of a revised schedule, putting the activity period at the end of the day.

In addition to the basic subjects in mathematics, the sciences, social studies, and languages, the Bard students, under the coordination of Fran Hassen and Barry Silkowitz, will attempt to help in the fine arts.

Help and spirited information will be available to the high school students in drama, dance, music, creative writing, cooking, art and art history.

In a recent conversation with The Freeman, Dr. Reamer Kline, president of Bard College, said that this tutoring is one of the outstanding "positive aspects" embodied by the student body which should be given equal publicity with the negative, law-breaking publicity.

Top Diplomats To Speak at Paltz College

NEW PALTZ

Leading diplomats, representing Mexico and Brazil will present addresses at State University College, New Paltz, Thursday, Oct. 16 at 3 p.m. to open the college's fourth annual International Festival.

Marcel D. C. Hasslocher, councillor and cultural affairs officer of the Brazilian Embassy, and Consul-General Eugenio V. Pesqueira of the Mexican Consulate, New York City, will speak in the college's new lecture center. Dr. John J. Neumaier, college president, also will present an opening statement about this year's festival which will focus on the two Latin American countries representing the Spanish and Portuguese cultures.

A reception for the diplomats will be held in conjunction with the opening of an art exhibit in the college art gallery at 4:30 p.m.

The public is invited to all events of the festival without charge.

More than 30 lectures, displays, concerts, and dance programs have been scheduled at the college during the next nine weeks concerning Latin America in general and Mexico and Brazil in particular.

Other weekend festival events include a Thursday evening lecture, Oct. 16 by Dr. Luis Alberto Sanchez on "Higher Education in Latin America;" a keynote address Friday evening by Dr. Carlos Sanz de Santamaria, on "The Alliance for Progress and Development in Latin America," and a concert by the United States Military Academy Band featuring music of Mexico and Brazil Sunday afternoon at 3 p.m. in the Campus Quadrangle.

Will Accept Bids for School Expansion

RED HOOK

Bids will be accepted on total construction of the 36-room addition to Mill Road School Oct 15 at a special meeting of the Red Hook School Board, according to District Principal Russell J. Keefe.

Four subdivisions will be included by means of sub-contracting. They are general construction, heating and ventilation, plumbing and sewerage.

District voters approved the expansion project, designed to accommodate elementary pupils by doubling the present size of the Mill Road facility, and costing about $1.2 billion, in a referendum last spring. An auditorium was voted down at the same time.

Landscaping and usage has been divided into three main areas. They are: environmental control, including some wild life preserve; playfields, which are separated from the school building by a line of "accoustical barrier" trees; and room for expanded bus storage.

"With any luck, we'll have footings and some steel up before the snow comes," said Keefe.

Tribute to 4-H Clubs

We salute members of the 4-H Clubs and their volunteer leaders in this area who currently are observing National 4-H Club Week. In Ulster and Dutchess Counties, the organization's wide variety of projects have been highly successful.

For more than a half-century, 4-H Clubs have helped guide the youth of the country through the fourfold program of developing Head, Heart, Hands and Health for responsible citizenship and personal achievement.

Organizations like the 4-H Club contribute greatly to a young person's natural desire to express himself. Parents who see a leisure-time problem at the root of their offsprings' troubles would do well to encourage them to participate in this very worthwhile program. The boy or girl who is busy in constructive, purposeful projects of fun and learning hasn't the time or inclination to get into trouble.

We congratulate the members and leaders for their accomplishments.

Teaching About Drugs

Told that 50 to 60 per cent of the high school students in Arlington County, across the Potomac from Washington, D. C., have at least tried drugs in one form or another at least one time, School Superintendent Robert L. Chisholm wants to see narcotics and psychedelic drugs studied along with other facts of life in biology, health education, home economics and literature courses.

Chisholm holds a doctorate in education from Columbia University, a master's from Stanford and a bachelor's degree from Washington State. Police told him that drug addiction is a part of a national pattern, that it is prevalent even in junior high schools. So he is devising a program within the existing curriculum to teach about it, not making it something special, which would call particular attention to it.

The important facts to teach are the health aspects and social implications—how additive drugs can affect the family relationship. It is the same approach now used in teaching about alcoholism in a matter-of-fact, open manner. Chisholm may well develop an approach that could help youngsters everywhere in the country, where drug addiction is a problem.

Sweden has a highly developed military and civil defense. Its weakness is its potential lack of self-sufficiency in food. Closure of the country's borders by war would handicap the country because production as a percentage of consumption is below 70 per cent.

Efforts to revive the wage-price guideposts in effect from 1962 to 1966 were rejected by Paul W. McCracken, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers. Citing their breakdown after the economy began heating up in 1965, McCracken said price stability then was due to a slack economy. Guideposts during inflation would be like spitting into the wind, he said. Nevertheless, guideposts backed by public opinion did wonders a short time ago.

A natural-gas powered car was demonstrated for Gov. Ronald Reagan of California as a challenge to steam and electric engine manufactures in the race to produce a smog-free car. Converting a regular engine to natural gas costs $300. Cheap enough if it eliminates smog.

"When I said 'change the draft'—all I meant was I want a BOTTLED beer!"

"I Am Curious, Red!"

David Lawrence Says
GOP Dissenters Following The Road of Expediency

WASHINGTON — President Nixon, in his letter read at a memorial breakfast here on Wednesday for the 25th anniversary of the death of Wendell Wilkie, drew attention to a very significant factor in American politics — the importance of courage as contrasted with timidity and a lack of resoluteness.

Mr. Nixon recalled a quotation Mr. Willkie had repeated when he was campaigning as the Republican nominee for the presidency in 1940. It reads as follows:

"I would rather lose in a cause that I know some day will triumph than to triumph in a cause that I know some day will fail."

The words, of course, were originally uttered in an impromptu speech on Sept. 12, 1912, by Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey, the Democratic nominee for the presidency, when he addressed the Democratic State Committee and the Democratic County Chairman of New York at Syracuse. Mr. Wilson's theme was "American Politics." He also said:

"I'll tell you frankly, the people of the United State are tired of politics. They are sick of politics. They long, down in the bottom of their natures, for a release from everything except that which makes the public service look like public duty and legislation look like the translation of the public need into the public act."

Mr. Wilson was addressing a group which included Tammany leaders in New York — men who were not in sympathy with him because they believed in expediency. President Nixon faces somewhat the same situation today — dissenters in his own party who are also following the road of expediency. They are influenced by local considerations rather than the national interest.

Today, the dissenting Republicans are causing confusion in their own party. It is apparent that they are catering to groups of voters who are governed by emotions rather than by the careful judgment which public issues deserve.

A Senator, for instance, who has in his state a large metropolitan community whose vote might be the deciding factor on election night may be more concerned with how to win the election than with the record he is making in deviating from basic principles and abandoning what is better in the long run for his constituents as well as the people of the nation.

Every president has had to struggle with the insidious influences of politics. Instead of appraising public questions on their merits, politicians often have a tendency to do what is for the moment "popular," though such an attitude may have tragic results.

Some men in American politics are willing to do almost anything to win. The American people, on the other hand, in many states of the union have elected again and again men who have stood by their convictions and adhered to principles of law and justice.

What is considered "good politics" nowadays in one section of the country may not be as successful in other voting areas. This is one reason why there are dissenters inside each political party. But the men who have really performed a public service are those who have been willing to go down to defeat rather than abandon principles of fairness and equity, resoluteness and courage, in the conduct of the affairs of the national government.

Mr. Nixon, if he has occasion to write a letter again to a political gathering, might well pick up another quotation from the same speech of Woodrow Wilson on Sept. 12, 1912, when the Democratic Presidential candidate said:

"The man who sinks his own personal judgments and ambitions in the common good will in the long run ride the farthest and ride the highest.

"You know, we are an interesting people, we human folks. We are afraid of men who have power and use it wickedly, but we are never proud of them, and the only people we rear statues to are the men who forgot themselves and served others. And that statue will stand there as an example as long as the bronze will last, to fire young hearts forever, while the grave of the other man is trodden underfoot and forgotten, and is some day a plowed field again."

Favoring Blacks Is Stirring Neglected Whites' Revolt

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — There are as many Italian-Americans in the northeast Bronx as there are blacks in Harlem, but some New York politicans seem only now to be discovering it.

On major campuses across the nation, the clamor for black studies continues unabated. But prominent sociologists insist that no serious studies of white ethnic groups have been undertaken for half a century.

While mostly affluent college youths (who represent only one in every four Americans in the college-eligible age bracket) shout against the Vietnam war, that war is being fought largely by white and black sons of the lower middle or poor classes who comprise the three-fourths not in college. Whites predominate, 8 or 9 to 1.

White ethnic families struggling financially to get their children into city and community colleges sometimes finally make it, only to see some of these schools disrupted by militant young blacks or by affluent whites playing Che Guevara.

Irving Kristol, writing in the magazine, The Public Interest, deplores what he says is now "ghetto folklore" — the notion many blacks have that all whites are rich and privileged.

These blacks, he says, demean going to night school even as they see thousands of whites attending, and they disdain "dead-end" jobs like television repairman or garage mechanic though countless modest-income whites take such work.

For nearly five years, much of the ghetto ferment has been ascribed to the black community's rising impatience with poverty and related handicaps in contrast to an affluence made highly visible by television.

But what that same television shows to white ethnic viewers is not the growing number of blacks who get and hold good jobs and live "settled" lives, but the rioters, the welfare demonstrators and the alleged committers of crime.

Looking at the tube, the working class whites get a collective image of "troublemakers" blended with "undeserving" people who somehow gain "special rewards" denied to them.

From this sense of unfairness, from feelings of isolation and neglect, and the cumulative frustrations of living near the financial breakpoint, white ethnic workingmen in the $5,000-$10,000 yearly income class move toward a mood of rebellion.

If the mood is to be defused before some sort of revolt occurs, the increasingly attentive sociologists and other analysts say positive help is imperative.

The most frequently suggested benefit is tax relief, preferably higher federal exemptions for dependents.

Improvement in white working class schools, now often as bad as inner city black schools, is another common proposal.

So is ampler financial support for the education of the children of white ethnic families.

As voters, these families for long years have been a major building block of the celebrated, winning Democratic coalition. Today the Democrats are in peril of losing a very sizable portion of this vote either to the Republicans or to third party candidates like George Wallace. The risk of ignoring the real needs of this group is plain.

The once-stout bond between the disadvantaged laboring man and the intellectual liberal seems nearly broken. Intellectuals, caught up in the black cause, sometimes revile labor leaders and seek to punish ethnic whites for their prejudices — rather than examining their roots and looking into their deeper difficulties. Student radicals who tried this summer to "reach" such whites failed utterly.

The call to "end poverty" and "end racism" is beyond challenge. But scholars and some politicians say the liberal exhorters sound today as if they wish to "end the Italians" and "end the Poles." Isolation and punishment are poor prescriptions for whites and blacks alike.

Jack Anderson Says
Private Power Companies Seek Senate Help to Stifle Competition

Fast Backtrack

Treasury Secretary David Kennedy and Utah Sen. Wallace Bennett acted fast when they learned Jack Anderson was checking into their move to exempt .22 caliber ammunition from the gun control act.

Bennett backed away from the .22 exemption and Kennedy — who, like Bennett, had implied that the small-bore ammo was not used in pistols — quickly wrote a letter to Bennett correcting himself.

I've been advised that the (.22 ammo) observation is not entirely accurate," wrote the red-faced Kennedy. The back-down began only a few hours after the Secretary and the Senator were "advised" that Anderson had written a column on their misstatements.

* * *

WASHINGTON —A small electrical cooperative, after surviving near strangulation by five big power companies, is now being forced by the Nixon administration and two heavyweight Senators to compromise with its would-be killers.

The story would be isolated — heard only in a dozen small Louisiana communities —if a letter from Rural Electrification Administrator David Hamil and a confidential packet revealing the conspiracy had not been slipped to this column by two men willing to jeopardize their jobs to get out the facts.

The actions of Nixon-appointee Hamil, under the telephoned urgings of Sen. Spessard Holland, D-Fla., who controls the REA money faucet in the Appropriations Committee, do not bode well for community-owned electric power.

This includes 50 million Americans in almost every state, served by REA or publicly owned systems. Already in Indiana, consumers fear REA will lease a new, federally financed, $63 million co-op plant to a private power company.

The beginnings of the Louisiana co-op's efforts to break away from the private power monopoly began, ironically, in Hamil's days as REA Administrator for President Eisenhower, and by 1962, the little co-op was working for a 2-per cent-interest REA loan, the rate set by law.

But five major power firms in the area were moving, too. And taking chances with the antitrust laws, they worked in concert to thwart the co-op's efforts to get the REA loan.

Private Power Pressure

This joint effort is proved by more than 50 pages of material sent to Senators Allen Ellender and Russell Long, both Louisiana Democrats. The copy given this column is headed "Confidential" and signed by five power firms: Gulf States Utilities Company, Louisiana Power & Light Company, New Orleans Public Service Inc., Central Louisiana Electric Company and Southwestern Electric Power Company.

These five firms, some out-of-state owned, sought to convince the two Senators that a loan to the fledging co-op was "illegal," and "beyond the scope of the authority of REA." It asked the Senators to warn the REA of "the criticism which undoubtably would arise," accused the REA of "a zeal to socialize the electric power industry" and called public-power advocates "empire builders."

The affable chairman of the first signatory firm, Glenn Richard of Gulf States Utilities, was reached at his headquarters in Beaumont, Texas, and asked whether the concerted action had raised an antitrust specter at the Justice Department.

"Not so far, at any rate," he said cheerfully.

The five power firms disputed the co-op's claim to lower power rates, and for years blocked construction of two co-op generators and transmission lines. But finally, the plucky Louisiana Electric Cooperative won its court and administrative battles. The REA committed $56,521,000.

During one wild episode, former REA Administrator Norman Clapp told the co-op he could not release loan funds without an okay from Ellender, chairman of the Agriculture Committee which has power over the REA's parent Agriculture Department.

Ellender Junketing

Ellender was off on a junket in Asia but was finally chased down in Hong Kong by radiotelephone, Orville Freeman, then Secretary of Agriculture, thought Ellender voiced trans-Pacific concurrence.

When Ellender returned home, however, he complained that he had been too hasty.

Nevertheless, the loan weathered the crisis and the co-op thought its two small gas-fired generators and its transmission facilities were safe. But then the Republicans came to town. Under Hamil, a 60-year-old rancher, the squeeze rally began.

This June Hamil fired off a private letter to the co-op's president laying down the law. Deputy REA Administrator Everett Weitzell reluctantly confirmed that both he and Hamil had received "admonitions" from Sen. Holland, long a spokesman for private power, on the Louisiana co-op. Although the Senator who appropriates Hamil's money called "more than once," Weitzell denied Hamil was "pressured" into writing the letter.

Weitzell hopefully suggested this column ignore the co-op story lest it stir up "controversy" that had settled down. But the letter stirs up its own controversy:

"We have...discussed (the co-op loan) implications with appropriate officials of the Congress and the administration," said Hamil's letter. "Our conclusion is that it would be unwise to proceed with the loan as it now stands..."

Hamil, reversing his predecessor, said the co-op was too small to be economically operated — precisely the argument of the five power companies. Then Hamil openly threatened to revoke the loan contract unless the co-op compromised with the power companies on connecting lines and other issues.

If the co-op would make concessions, "steps can be taken to proceed with the advance of funds," said Hamil. The co-op is now sitting down with the power companies to see what can be salvaged for the consumers of Louisiana.

Note: The Justice Department, upholding its end in the tradition of strong antitrust action under GOP presidents, has moved against a power company in Minnesota. The Otter Trail Power Company has been charged in civil action with trying to thwart municipalities who want their own power systems.

Not Playing GOP's Game May Get Senator Goodell the Gate

By MARY ELLEN RIDDLE
(NEA Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON —(NEA) — Sen. Charles Goodell of New York is in trouble. It's probably because he didn't follow the rules.

Freshman senators are supposed to sit quietly in the back of the Senate chamber and be polite and vote with the party. A senator who is appointed to fill out the term of a man who died in office is supposed to repay the debt he owes for his appointment with unfailing support for the party.

But Goodell hasn't played that way. Since he was appointed to the late Robert Kennedy's seat one year ago, he has been recklessly defiant of the rest of the Republican party. He openly attacked the late minority leader Everett Dirksen for the latter's successful blocking of Dr. John H. Knowles' appointment as assistant secretary of Health, Education and Welfare. He fought against the Antiballistic Missile System although even Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, who appointed him to the seat, asked him to vote for it. He called for the resignations of J. Edgar Hoover and Gen. Lewis Hershey, the bureaucracy's sacred cows, and takes verbal pot shots at President Nixon.

If Goodell has been on the losing side of things in Washington, his stands have been even more unpopular among the party leadership of his state. Goodell will be up for re-election in 1970 but the party is talking about dropping him and Rockefeller has declined to endorse him.

Looking into the New York Republican electorate, the political fortune-tellers do not have much encouragement for Goodell. They say New York was never as liberal as its national image; that liberals are concentrated on Manhattan Island and they're Democrats. The rest of the state, including the city's other boroughs, are becoming more conservative.

Goodell knows he's in trouble.

"If the decision were being made today," he said. "I don't think it would be in my favor."

But he thinks things will smooth out by primary time next year.

"I believe I reflect quite accurately the feelings of the over-all electorate," he said confidently. "I do not reflect the frustrations they are now expressing. I could exploit these frustrations, but I don't think there's any future in it.

"People respect a man who stands on his convictions. They may not agree with me on a certain issue but they respect the approach."

Goodell thinks the state party will be with him by the time of the primary, even though upstaters are predicting they will support Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson or State Sen. Edward T. Speno. He thinks Rockefeller has not declared his support because of the New York City race for mayor where the governor finds himself favoring incumbent John Lindsay who lost the primary and is running independently.

"I think Rockefeller wants me to face these problems. When the time comes I'm very confident he'll want me on the ticket."

Goodell was a relatively unknown congressman from upstate New York before was appointed to the Senate. He started in Congress 10 years ago as a genuine conservative and says now that his subsequent congressional experience was responsible for his gradual drift away from the party line. His latest blow for independence came when he introduced his bill calling for all money to be choked off from the war in Vietnam by the end of 1970. Mr. Nixon immediately repudiated the bill and even some Goodell supporters are doubtful about it.

One skeptic suggested Goodell is using the publicity he gets for taking unorthodox stands because it's the only kind of campaign he can run in New York now. He has almost no money for campaigning, his tiny staff is young (the average age is about 25) and inexperienced, and he can't draw aid from a party that isn't supporting him.

But the traditional way to win the party's support and the voter's confidence is to take the popular side on the issues and not stir the waters. It's more likely that Goodell is just following his convictions. He isn't following the rules because he's not playing the same game.

Redesign Structure

New YMCA Construction Set to Begin Next Spring

By SHANE CROSBY

KINGSTON

Construction of the New Kingston-Ulster YMCA facility on Broadway is expected to begin in the early spring, following a reevaluation of design now being conducted to reduce costs, the association said today.

Redesign of the structure, planned to accommodate upwards of 5,000 members on a scheduled basis, is being conducted in cooperation with the National YMCA Building and Furnishing Service together with Harry Halverson and Associates of Kingston.

According to Robert D. Stubbs, executive director of the "Y", the building will serve as the "first unit" of a horizonal basement plus first floor complex. Previous plans had shown the structure as a three-story complex.

Stubbs and Alfred Schmid, president of the YMCA Board of Trustees, said the redesign is being made to reduce costs "without substantially disturbing the functional aspects of the new facility."

ROBERT D. STUBBS

JAMES RUNDLE

ALFRED SCHMID

Additions are planned for the complex in the the future, they said, at reduced cost, due to the inclusion of heating and other service equipment being included in the first stage.

Stubbs emphasized that planned facilities for the complex are being incorporated in the new design without "shrinkage" and said the planned 37' by 75' swimming pool and three locker complexes are included in the first stage.

Changes in the new facility include changing the parking entrance and exit from Broadway to Pine Grove Avenue in an effort to reduce traffic congestion on the city's main artery.

The first stage will face Broadway, according to the revised plans, Stubbs said.

The present structure, on the corner of Pine Grove and Broadway, will remain as the social and administrative building until an addition to the first stage is built for that purpose, he said. But, part of the basement of the old "Y" will be closed once the first part of the "master plan" is opened.

Original construction bids for the three story structure were opened and reviewed by the "Y" Building Committee and were rejected due to costs. Three bids were submitted.

A memorial for James Rundle, a former "Y" youth leader who was killed in combat in Vietnam last June is planned for the new structure.

Stubbs said the flag that accompanied the 26-year-old serviceman's body "will be the first flag to fly over the new building." He said the Rundle family has donated the flag to the YMCA as part of the memorial. More than $1,200 has been collected for the memorial.

The "Y" is planning to place a marker in the area of the new structure's flagpole in memory of the youth leader who was Ulster County's 30th recorded Vietnam death.

With a present membership of more than 3,100, Stubbs said the facility is planned to handle more than 5,000 on a scheduled basis, in line with the current average 20 per cent increase in annual memberships.

Plans for the new building are to be submitted for bidding in the late winter.

A Community Chest Agency, Stubbs said the "Y" and the Chest drive can be used for the construction of the new facilities, he noted, saying the current campaign in Ulster County is "important to the help services the agencies of other chest agencies "need the support of everyone." He said proceeds from the chest campaign can only be used for present operations.

Army and Rosendale Village See Eye to Eye And That Long Sewerage Controversy Ends

ROSENDALE

Both Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. and U.S. Army Corps of Engineers spokesman Robert Campbell released details Thursday on the agreement between the Army and the village over sewage disposal along the Rondout Creek.

The announcement brought to an official end the two-month-long controversy that had village Mayor William P. Curran and the Army at odds on what to do with household waste along the Main Street dike, part of the Rosendale Flood Control Project.

Congressman Fish's office said agreement had been reached between the Corps in Washington and the village that the engineers would not go ahead with plans to install five outfalls in the dike that would dump sewage into the creek without treatment.

The agreement, short of what Curran had sought in the form of a Main Street sewer line at Federal expense, calls for the Army to design and install one or two large septic tanks for use by the 24 or 25 homes along the dike that have been illegally polluting the creek.

The State Pure Waters Authority, said Fish spokesman John Barry, will supply the tanks while the Army will do the construction work. No date was given for start of the actual construction work, but it is expected to begin shortly.

The tanks are to be connected by pipe supplied by the village, the Congressman's office spokesman said.

Emphasizes Cooperation

Army spokesman Robert Campbell in Manhattan emphasized the "cooperation" between the Corps and the village and state on the project.

Mayor Curran had indicated in his announcement of the agreement this week that he is satisfied with the plan, even though it is short of his Main Street line he hoped would be connected to the $1-million sewer system that was proposed then postponed last week.

Curran called the agreement a "victory over pollution" when he told The Freeman of the near-end of the controversy Tuesday.

Details of what agency is to pay for what in the agreement is still vague, with the Army maintaining it is unable to pay for any part of the plan but only able to supply designs and "cooperation" apparently including labor.

The Corps of Engineers said they do not feel their agreement amounts to "capitulation" to the mayor's demands, but that the Army was agreeing to a program to control pollution within the bounds of the flood project.

Meanwile, Congressman Fish's office also announced Thursday that the two Ulster County flood control projects were the only two out of five in the state that received extra funds from Congress this week. Barry said the lawmakers Wednesday passed resolutions that give $1.3-million to the Rosendale project and $50,000 to a like project in northern Ellenville. Funds for five flood projects in the state were sought in the House, said Fish's spokesman, but Ulster's two were the only ones approved. The measures still have to face the Senate before final approval.

Mayoral Candidates Give . . .

that they would seriously consider that proposal.

The police were asking to raise the starting salary from its present $5,725 to $7,500. Koenig and Singer agreed that the increases were an area of serious discussion. Tyrrell, however, was the only one who mentioned a specific figure. He called for a salary of from $7,200 to $7,500 for a five-year man. The present salary is set at $6,985 for a five-year patrolman.

Police Commission

All three candidates agreed that the police should have a representative on the police commission. The police suggested that the new mayor appoint a retired police officer to the commission when the next vacancy occurs.

Vacations

Tyrrell and Singer agreed on the vacation schedule proposed by the police which ranged from a week's increase (to three weeks) for the men in the one-to-five year service category to five weeks for men with more than 15 years. Koenig agreed with the five weeks for 15 year men but did not agree with the three weeks for one to five year men.

Personal Leave, Overtime

All three candidates agreed that personal leave should be increased and that overtime assigned by the heads of the department should be paid at the rate of time and a half.

Seniority

Levy said that the men with the most time in service had first choice on vacations but did not get any preference on their choice of work shifts. He indicated that the members had been informally polled on the issue of seniority but that the results had been inconclusive. All three candidates agreed that seniority was a department matter and that they would go along with the wishes of the department.

The Blue Cr[illegible] Increase

Koenig appeared to agree with that but said he would have to see if the state would allow the city to pay the 43 per cent increase. On the current plan, the police pay 40 per cent and the city pays 60 per cent. Singer was willing to maintain the same ratio on the increase. Tyrrell said the major share of medical coverage should be the city's and added, "We must be competitive with private industry. If we have to upgrade the program, we will."

Clothing Allowance

Koenig and Singer agreed to the increased clothing allowance from $150 to $200 per year. Levy said the average cost of drycleaning of uniforms for the police officers was $10 per year. Tyrrell, on the other hand, agreed that the increase was probably needed but said, "We have to talk about top priority items. People have a tendency to pick the smallest item to make the most steam."

Midland Notes Record

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Marine Midland Banks, New York's largest statewide bank holding company, has reported record income for the first nine months of 1969.

The firm said Thursday its net earnings through Sept. 30 totaled $32,917,181, or $2.79 a share, compared with $26,498,436, or $2.32 a share, for the first three quarters of 1968.

Marine Midland has 243 offices in 151 New York State communities and also has branches overseas.

Blame Pilferers For Massacre

MANILA (UPI)—A Philippine constabulary commander said today a "syndicate of pilferers" may have been behind the massacre for 10 Filipinos Thursday, nine of them off duty Filipino guards at a U.S. Navy communications station.

Lt. Col. Tomas Diaz, the Tarlac Province constabulary commander, said pilferers were known to be operating at the radio facilities at Camp O'Donnell, a remote installations 65 miles north of Manila.

Communist Huk terrorists also operate in the region, near Capas Town in Tarlac.

More than 200 combat troops were ordered into the manhunt for the killers Thursday.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks opened higher today in moderate turnover.

Some analysts believe that the market is "near its bottom" and that the next big move will be on the upside. Still, with little in the news budget to inspire traders for the present, normal pre-weekend evening up operations could be the ruling influence.

Shortly after the opening, the UPI marketwide indicator was up 0.29 per cent on 468 issues crossing the tape. There were 224 advances, and 119 declines.

Motors were mixed. Oils and steels moved ahead, while electronics were mostly higher.

In the motors, Ford picked up ⅛ to 43½, while Chrysler gained ⅜ to 37¼. American Motors climbed ¼ to 10½, but General Motors dipped ¼ to 71¼.

American Telephone Co. unchanged at 50. Avon Products jumped 1¾ to 160½, with Polaroid up ⅛ to 136½ and Xerox 1¼ to 101½.

Quotations by First Albany Corporation, members of New York Stock Exchange and American Stock Exchange, 52 Main Street, Kingston N. Y. Sheldon Levy, resident manager.

Cablevision Statement On a Break

KINGSTON

Kingston Cablevision today issued a statement regarding recent cases of interrupted service, including a 90-minute break in reception late Wednesday afternoon in which they called on subscribers to have "patience and confidence" with the cable service.

Cablevision General Manager William S. Krajci said that under situations such as Wednesday's when an "intermittent picture amplifier condition" caused a loss of reception to most subscribers, "Our telephones are under peak load."

Krajci said that jammed switchboards give the caller the impression that the office might hold the telephone "off the hook" and instead suggested that viewers call neighbors who might also be facing a blank screen.

"A system outtage will be experienced by all on the system. We are very much informed of it and are doing everything possible to deal with the situation as rapidly and humanly possible."

The general manager said that a recent addition to the testing equipment allows technicians to monitor the entire system and that "in most instances the difficulty is known to the company before customers even realize there is a problem."

In Wednesday's case that occurred from about 4 p. m. to 5:30 p. m., nearing the industry valued "prime time," an entire unit had to be replaced, according to Krajci, that took one hour to complete and restore service after the alarm was given.

Goodyear Burglary

A burglary at the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company service store at 115 North Front Street, today was investigated by city detectives. Det. Lt. Charles McCullough said the place was entered through a side window, but apparently nothing of value was missing. The investigation will continue.

'Far From Coercion,' Treasury on Inflation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration, and particularly Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy, appears more and more willing to put pressure on the groups it thinks are crimping its fight against inflation.

But "it's far from coercion," one Treasury Department official said Thursday after Kennedy issued a strong appeal, coupled with a warning, to heavy buying businessmen, demanding unions and spendthrift consumers.

Nevertheless, Kennedy's speech to the Economic Club of Chicago was a major departure from the mild approach he has taken before in the eight-plus months he has held office.

The speech spelled out in more detail what President Nixon and his chief economist, Paul W. McCracken, have said before: Those who gamble that inflation will continue will be the final losers.

Kennedy told the club's businessmen and bankers the administration had worked hard to chill four years of inflation and was beginning to get results. Then he added:

"The businessman who undertakes an unnecessary capital expansion or inventory accumulation today in the expectation of higher prices or higher interest rates tomorrow is betting that we are going to lose this fight.

"So is the union leader who demands wage increases that far outrun productivity gains. And so is the consumer who plunges headlong into debt on the theory that his dollars will be worth less tomorrow.

"I believe they are seriously mistaken."

Knowledgeable Treasury officials said Kennedy's determined speech resulted from his decision, made before Nixon spoke out Sept. 26, to become more emphatic and positive—in other words, tougher.

It is still a long way from the "jawbone" technique of tough personal persuasion practiced during Lyndon Johnson's time and rejected as ineffective by Nixon.

Oct. 15 Last Day For 1st Payment Of School Taxes

KINGSTON

Taxpayers of the Kingston City Schools District Consolidated were reminded today by Edna S. Morgan, collector-treasurer of the district, that Wednesday, Oct. 15 is the final date for payment of the first installment of the 1969-70 school taxes.

Beginning Oct. 16 and until Nov. 15, interest at the rate of 2 per cent must be added, and from Nov. 16 until Dec. 15 the rate of interest is 3 per cent, Mrs. Morgan noted. This applies only to the first installment.

The second installment may be paid any time up to Dec. 15 without penalty.

The treasurer-collector's office is located in the George Washington School on Wall Street, and is open daily from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. for payment of taxes. The office will not be open on Monday, Oct. 13, Columbus Day.

The taxes may be paid by mail, but must be postmarked on Oct. 15 or earlier for payment of the first installment to avoid a penalty.

All bills were mailed out on or before Sept. 12. If any taxpayer has not received a bill for the 1969-70 school taxes, inquiry should be made immediately by notifying the office of the school district treasurer-collector or in person at the office. This should be done without delay.

Derailment Ties Up Traffic On River Span

CASTLETON - on - HUDSON, N.Y. (UPI)—Travel across a rail road bridge over the Hudson River between Selkirk and Castleton was tied up today because of a train derailment.

State police said an engine and two cars from a Penn Central freight derailed late Thursday.

The derailed cars from the eastbound freight struck several cars on a westbound Penn Central freight crossing the river at the same time. There was no damage to the second freight or to the bridge, state police said.

The tracks were scheduled to be cleared in the afternoon, police said.

The derailment was blamed on a wheel 'journal" that broke on a car.

The Canada-Alaska boundary of the conterminous United States measures 1,538 miles in length.

Catholics Continue Debate Over Authority of the Pope

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Against a background of unexpected violence, the great debate in Roman Catholicism over the authority of the Pope headed toward a showdown today.

The battle lines formed after Pope Paul VI Tuesday told Catholics who question his authority they have incurred a fault for which they must answer to God.

Liberal priests demanding a more democratic church assembled in Rome, conservative priests filed in to oppose them and 147 bishops from all over the world arrived for a two-week synod called by the Pope.

The unexpected violence occurred Thursday night when youths calling themselves "traditional Catholics" hurled a smoke bomb and broke windows at the building where the liberal priests are meeting.

The synod, the second in church history, is the main arena in which the battle will be fought. Pope Paul VI opens it Saturday in the Vatican's Sistine Chapel.

The crisis of papal authority, although building up for years, reached a dramatic turning point a year ago last July when Pope Paul announced his decision against artificial means of birth control. Millions of Catholics refused to accept it.

To many bishops, especially those who opposed the decision, the Pope's manner of reaching it seemed a betrayal of the ecumenical council.

The council affirmed the primacy of the Pope and his right to exercise authority alone, but also held that authority in the church is shared by Pope and bishops. Opponents of the birth control encyclical based their complaint on the fact the Pope failed to consult bishops before making his decision and refused to allow the first synod that met in 1967 to discuss the question.

Many Catholic scholars, conservatives and liberals alike, now agree that the crisis of authority is in part due to the fact the ecumenical council decree did not resolve the conflict between the concept of an all-powerful Pope and on sharing authority with bishops.

Hijack Plane With 4 Baseball Players, Coach

MIAMI (AP) — A grubby but polite little gunman pulled the year's 46th airliner hijacking to Cuba Thursday. The passengers included four major league baseball players and a coach.

The hijacker, slightly built and speaking little English, took over the plane—National Airlines Flight 42 from Los Angeles to Miami—as it passed over Texas.

The jetliner carried a crew of seven and 63 passengers, includ

Roger Craig, pitching coach of the San Diego Padres, Mel Queen of the Cincinnati Reds, Dave Marshall of the San Francisco Giants, Dick Corkins of the Padres and Dennis Paepke of the Kansas City Royals.

Stewardess Ann Baker of Miami said the man grabbed her arm and ordered, "Havana, Cuba! Cockpit!"

"He had a gun, a black gun," Miss Baker told newsmen in Miami when the airliner completed its trip, four hours and six minutes late, after the unscheduled Havana stop.

The hijacker handed notes to several passengers. Queen's 26-year-old wife, Gail, said she got one saying: "Cuban refugee. Please keep quiet. We'll land in my homeland in two hours, where are my wife and my son."

Craig said he and the four baseball players were headed for Venezuela to participate in Latin-American play during the major league off season.

At National Airlines spokesman said the only listed passenger who failed to return from Cuba was F. Birera, who boarded in Los Angeles.

Czechs Cancel 100,000 Permits For Western Countries Travel

PRAGUE (AP)—The Czechoslovak government's curtailment of travel to the West "was like the devaluation of the franc," the young engineer said as he sat in his car at a Prague gas station.

"Everybody expected them to close the border, but it didn't happen," he said. "We got complacent and bang—we spend our vacation at home."

The engineer and his wife, their car loaded with baggage for a trip to West Germany and Belgium, were two of the 100,000 Czechs and Slovaks whose permits for private, unofficial travel to Western countries were canceled Thursday.

The government said that in the future issuance of visas "will be governed especially by an economic point of view." The government said it was restricting travel "so that tourism may develop in harmony with the interests of the state and within its economic and foreign currency possibilities."

In simpler terms, the announcement means that the Communist regime wants to cut down on the foreign exchange it loses when its citizens spend in the West and wants to let only those it can trust cross the frontier.

The government said travel documents would not be issued to persons in legal trouble or debt or one whose "conduct indicates he intends to stay abroad illegally."

Hundreds of travelers had already started trips to Western Europe Thursday when they learned the news. Frontier troops removed them from trains and buses, and turned motorists back at the borders with West Germany and Austria. Many were still streaming home today.

The new regulations are similar to those in effect in Poland and Hungary but are less rigid than those in East Germany.

In 1968, a total of 450,000 Czechoslovaks visited the West, and in the first eight months of 1969 nearly 600,000 had applied to go.

"I can still travel abroad as an official," said an official of an exporting office, "but I've started dreading my next trip, having to decide whether to come back or not."

Emigration permits will be granted only to unite parents with minor children, to permit marriage to a foreigner or "in cases deserving particular consideration," the government said.

The announcement also said the government had decided to stop casual visits to or across Czechoslovakia by Westerners on "weekend" or transit visas issued at Austrian border points.

It said some foreign tourists are "trying to influence negatively our international political development," and henceforth foreigners must apply for visas at Czechoslovak embassies abroad, except in emergencies.

Peking Levels Two Charges Against U.S. Ships, Planes

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China charged today that U.S. warships opened fire on a Chinese fishing fleet in the Gulf of Tonkin in September and that two U.S. warplanes strafed four other Chinese fishing boats in the gulf on Oct. 4.

The Chinese did not say whether there were any casualties or damage to the boats.

Peking's official Hsinhua (New China) News Agency, said a spokesman for the Chinese Foreign Ministry "lodged a serious protest with U.S. imperialism against this piracy threatening the security of the lives and property of Chinese fishermen."

"This was a most serious crime committed by U.S. military aircraft and warships in their continuous, unbridled provocations against Chinese fishing fleets on the high seas since the U.S. imperialist ringleader Nixon came to power," the Peking broadcast said.

In Washington a State Department spokesman said: "This is the first I've heard" of the Chinese report. He said he had no statement at this time.

PLAN OF FIRST FLOOR

PLAN OF SECOND FLOOR

Young Couples Find a Friend In This Week's Feature Home

The young couple concerned with the present but keeping the future in mind will find a readyally in today's feature of a modern type Cape Cod home. For immediate needs the first floor is a complete living unit. The additional two bedrooms on the second floor can be finished off economically at any time after the home is completed.

Many of the features in today's house plan are ideally suited to the just-married couple starting out in their first home. Open planning thru the living and dining room is a modern trend and safeguard against cramped quarters found in most small homes. The open staircase on the living room side is another asset in that direction.

Designers tend to assume that a young married couple would take most of their meals in the kitchen and in planning, have provided ample room for table and chairs, completely away from the L-shaped working area. The front entrance has a small foyer area with guest closet at the foot of the stairs and there is a rear entrance that leads from the dining room to a covered rear porch. This area can also be reached by way of the garage.

First floor has 850 square feet of living area and 290 square feet for the garage and porch.

Blueprints for this one and a half story dwelling can be obtained at moderate cost by using the accompanying coupon. With your plans you will receive form specifications which will aid you in discussing building cost with your contractor.

Says The Green Thumb

Plan for Yule Flowers Now

By GEORGE ABRAHAM

If your poinsettia is to bloom for Christmas better continue to give the plant that short-day, long-night treatment. All that means is this: no light should hit the plant after 5 p.m. and you can prevent this by covering the plant indoors, using a cardboard box, or black plastic sheet. Remove the covering at 8 a.m. the following morning. If this is done regularly until about Thanksgiving, you should get a colorful plant by the time Christmas rolls around. After Thanksgiving, you can stop the short day treatment. We'd also like to remind you that the florists' hydrangea (pink, white and blue flowering varieties) are not hardy and if left outdoors the winter will kill the buds. Pot up the plant and bring it indoors and keep in a basement around 40 degs., applying just enough water to keep it alive. In May plant the shrubby plant outdoors and it will blossom for you most of the summer.

TREE ROOTS IN LAWNS: What can be done with tree roots which are practically growing on the surface of your lawn? Will it hurt to cut the roots? No. We usually take a sharp axe or an adz and chop off the roots or level them so they're flush with the soil surface. It won't do them a bit of harm. Some gardeners cope with the problem by covering the roots with a couple inches of soil, but sooner or later the roots will rise above this layer. Chopping the roots out, either wholly or partially is the only way I know of to handle this problem.

GREEN THUMB CLINIC: A reader writes: "We want to put in a lawn, but we were told it's too late. Would you so this late, and should be use a single grass or a mixture?"

Answer: "I like to combine several grasses into a lawn-seed blend. The reason: there's no such thing as a perfect single grass and if you mix them you get the advantages of all. Some do better in certain soils, or in sun or shade. For example, the fine fescues like Chewings, Illahee or Pennlawn may be your best bet under trees, and in the open, you can use Kentucky Bluegrass. Bentgrasses are usualy planted alone, although now that we have low-growing bluegrasses such as Fylking and Pennstar, blends of bluegrass with colonial bentgrasses are more feasible.

We've put lawns in as late as the first of December and have had them come out beautifully the following spring. At least the grass seed is there, ready to sprout the following spring.

Latex Paints Aren't Fool-Proof

By MR FIX

Latex paints are so easy to use that more homeowners than ever are doing their own painting. But as foolproof as these water-thinned paints are, it is still possible to do a less-than-satisfactory job. While they remain the easiest paints for amateurs to apply, there are still certain points to keep in mind if you wish to avoid disappointments.

Surface preparation is just as important as it ever was for the older oil-base paints. Surfaces should be free of dirt, grease and wax. Since latex paint is now available as a semigloss enamel as well as in a flat finish, you may find yourself applying it over a glossy surface. As with regular enamels, the old surface should be dulled first by sanding.

Just because rollers are cheaper than brushes is no reason to buy the cheapest roller you can find. The best quality latex paint is going to result in a poor surface if put on with a cheap roller or an old roller that was allowed to dry out and harden without proper washing.

Use a nylon brush rather than one of natural bristles where brush work is needed. Nylon will hold its shape better with water-based paints.

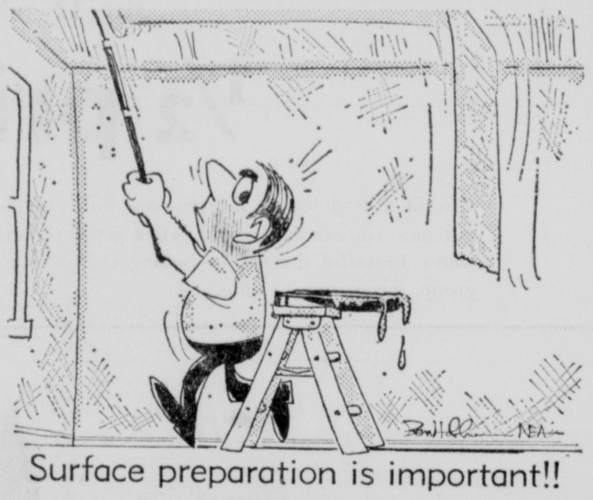

Even though you are using a roller on walls and ceilings you will have to use a brush for corners and edges. Do the brush work first on each wall before you finish that particular wall with a roller.

Latex paints should be applied heavier than oil paint. Even though it looks as though you are covering the surface, do not roll the paint out too thin.

You will seldom have to thin a latex paint. Should it seem too thick, however, add water a few drops at a time and stir. A can of paint that has been opened for a while may need a little thinning due to evaporation.

Don't be tempted to work too quickly with a roller. Do not allow the roller to spin at the end of a stroke. You will only spatter the paint over other surfaces and yourself.

Carry as much paint as you can on the roller without dripping and then apply it with slow strokes and little pressure. Start by rolling up the wall and then crisscross, left and right. Roll out the gobs of paint that might trickle down the wall. Finish off with a light touch and roll the last stroke into the finished area and then lift off the roller.

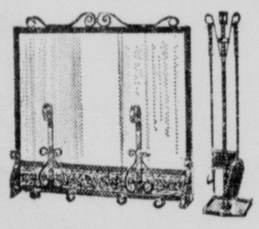

Surface preparation is important!!

The label may warn you not to mix latex paint too vigorously. Heed the warning. Too much mixing causes bubbles in the finished work. If you have bubbles anyway, just roll out a large area than you otherwise would until the bubbles begin to burst. Then go back and roll the surface lightly.

Be careful in using latex over metal surfaces. These must be primed with oil paint or regular primer. Bare spots will rust when hit by the water in the latex paint.

Two More U.S. Wives Seek Some Information

PARIS (UPI) — Two U.S. Navy wives who have received letters from their husbands imprisoned in North Vietnam today sought the release of their men and all other sick and wounded American prisoners.

Mrs. Martha Doss and Mrs. Sue Shuman arrived in Paris with Mrs. Shuman's mother-in-law, Mrs. Clark Boeckeler, late Thursday. All are from Virginia Beach, Va.

They were the fourth group of relatives of American servicemen missing or imprisoned in Vietnam to seek a meeting in Paris with the North Vietnamese. They were the first to make the release of sick and injured prisoners their primary concern.

"I hope that the North Vietnamese realize we're not coming in tears to ask information about our husbands. We've had some—not as much as we'd like, of course," said Mrs. Shuman.

The 18 relatives in the three earlier groups, with one exception, never got confirmation their men were prisoners. Hanoi officials in Paris promised to find out.

"We want these men back," said the dark-haired Mrs. Doss, "so we can get them the proper medical attention and diet they need so they can recuperate. We feel it would be a gesture on the part of the North Vietnamese to show the world that they truly are as humanitarian as they claim."

The husbands of the two women—Cmdr. Edwin Arthur "Ned" Shuman III, 38, and Lt. Cmdr. Dale Walter Doss, 33—were shot down in the same plane March 17, 1968.

Hanoi Radio confirmed their downing the next day. Later, pictures were released of the two men showing Shuman with a broken right shoulder and Doss with his arm in a sling. A year went by with no further word.

"On the anniversary of their capture, last March 17, each of us sent telegrams to Ambassador Xuan Thuy (Hanoi's chief negotiator) asking about their health and well-being," Mrs. Shuman said. "We never got an answer—we still haven't got an answer—but about a month later, it was April 26, we each got a letter dated Dec. 23, 1968."

She said each now has heard from her husband a total of four times. That was the same number of letters received in four years by Mrs. Sybil Stockdale of San Diego, Calif., the only other wife among those who have come to Paris who has heard from her husband.

PLAN STONE RIDGE FETE—Frank Brooks, chairman, the Rev. Robert T. Clementz, pastor and Fred Meyer, assistant chairman, discuss final plans for the annual turkey supper sponsored by the Marbletown Reformed Church, Stone Ridge. Serving of turkey and traditional trimmings will start 5:30 p. m. Saturday at the church and will continue until all are served. Special prices for the family style dinner have been arranged for children under 12 with youngsters under five years of age admitted free.

Kopechne Bid Is Dismissed, Judge Sets Oct. 20 Hearing

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP) — A judge refused again today to dismiss a Massachusetts prosecutor's petition for an autopsy on the body of Mary Jo Kopechne and said "only a hearing will bring to light facts," on whether exhumation is necessary to determine how she was killed in Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's car.

Common Pleas Judge Bernard C. Brominski dismissing the plea of Mary Jo's parents to block an autopsy scheduled a hearing for Oct. 20.

The judge also rejected the request by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kopechne of Berkeley Heights, N. J. to delay a full hearing on the autopsy petition until after completion of an inquest into Mary Jo's death that already has attracted worldwide interest.

The 28-year-old Miss Kopechne was killed July 18 when Kennedy's car plunged off a narrow bridge into a pond on Chappaquiddick Island, near Cape Cod.

"It is the opinion of this court that the interests of both the public and the Kopechnes would be best served by developing the facts at a hearing to be held without delay," Brominski said in his six-page opinion.

"This would give the court the benefit of all the information available from both parties in arriving at the ultimate disposition of this matter."

Brominski once before, on Sept. 3, had rejected the Kopechnes' motion to dismiss the petition for exhumation and autopsy originally filed on Aug. 13 by Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis of New Bedford, Mass. They claimed Dinis was on a fishing expedition and couldn't invade Mary Jo's grave in search of an alleged crime.

Brominski had researched the law exhaustively before rejecting the dismissal motion for the second time.

Would Preserve Hudson Hotel

HUDSON

The Hudson River Valley Commission today urged that the City of Hudson, Columbia County abandon its plan to demolish the historic General Worth Hotel, and, instead, recommended that the City or interested civic groups take advantage of Federal and State programs to renovate the building for present day community needs.

The Commission announced its findings on the importance of the Gereral Worth Hotel following an extended review of the proposed demolition, including a public hearing held Sept. 15 in Hudson.

HRVC Chairman Fergus Reid III, who made the announcment, said that "the Commission finds that the General Worth Hotel is an historic resource of importance to the nation as well as to the citizens of this Hudson River Valley," and described the 1837 building as "a building of prime importance as a rare example of a Greek Revival hotel, one of the earliest remaining prototypes of the urban hotel in America."

Of Melchizedek, king of Salem it is said: "He is without father or mother or genealogy and has neither beginnings of days nor end of life."

Aux. Police Meet Monday

KINGSTON

The Kingston-Ulster County CD Auxiliary Police will meet Monday, Oct. 13 at 7:30 o'clock.

Meeting place will be at the rear entrance of the County Courthouse at which time a radio practice drill will be conducted in preparation for patrol duty on Halloween night.

All members, with or without mobile units are requested to attend. This meeting will be in uniform.

Farmer Crushed

LOCKPORT, N.Y. (AP) — A 69-year-old farmer died Thursday when crushed beneath a small buildozer he was using to move loose silage, Niagara County sheriff's deputies said.

Deputies said Ray Swendsen of the Town of Lockport was backing the bulldozer over a large mound of the cattle feed when the machine slipped sideways and overturned on top of him.

Fire Leaves Nine Homeless In Saugerties

SAUGERTIES

A mother and eight children are homeless today as a result of a fire Thursday afternoon which seriously damaged the recreation room and basement area of their dwelling at Cherry Lane, Windemere.

The home was unoccupied at the time. Mrs. Lucille De Schaine, who rents the house was taking one of the children to the school bus station. She had a baby with her. Other children were in school.

John Mauro, assistant fire chief of Glasco Fire Company said C. A. Lynch and Washington Hook and Ladder Company of Saugerties were called to assist. Two firemen were injured at the fire scene, Robert Wade of Washington Hook and Ladder Company and Richard Aguanno of Glasco Company. Both were treated by local physicians. Wade suffered burns of the arm and Aguanno reopened a cut he had on his arm.

Mauro said the cause could not be immediately determined. However, he said, it is believed a faulty electric iron may have started the blaze in the laundry room. Mrs. De Schaine and the children are staying with neighbors until she can find other quarters.

Seymour Kruzanski of New Paltz is owner of the split ranch dwelling. Glasco firemen returned to station at 3:20 p.m.

Recalls Ambassador

LISBON (UPI)—Portugal recalled its ambassador to Sweden Thursday amid reports of official Swedish support for guerrilla forces in Portuguese Africa. Reports in the Portuguese press alleged the Swedish government was providing financial aid to guerrilla forces in Mozambique and Portuguese Guinea.

ON THE WAY UP—Old buildings may be going down, but the new skirts are definitely on the up. When Margaret MacDonald (L) entered Penn State at University Park, Pa., as the first woman chemistry student 75 years ago, she wore long skirts to Walker Lab. That building has just been razed to make room for a sciences complex where mini-skirted coeds like Sally Manning of Hawthorn, Victoria Australia will study. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

The Community Chest and You

Helping Mentally Retarded Children—12 Basic Steps

KINGSTON — Assisting mentally retarded children comes down to 12 basic steps performed through the tireless efforts of an association in this city that provides a service which deserves the financial support of everyone.

Ulster County Association for Retarded Children is an agency founded exclusively to serve the mentally retarded of the county. The youngest client served is six months old, and the senior member is 80, and a patient at a state school for retarded. "The Mentally Retarded Can Be Helped" is the motto of this group of people, who are parents or friends of the mentally retarded.

Contributions to Ulster County Community Chest assures that this service will continue in the community. No one has to sell this idea to the parents of those unfortunate youngsters and families of the oldsters. A fair-share contribution to the Community Chest representative will indicate human concern. The current Chest campaign to raise $411,000 is now in progress in the offices and business establishments of the county. The residential campaign has already started in many communities.

The 12 Steps

Contributions aid the youngsters with these 12 steps:

Parents come to the Agency, or are referred. Tests are administered; and parents are advised as to feeding, diets, and future planning.

Parents are encouraged to attend meetings of the Association, where they meet others with the same problem, and where educators and professionals gather to discuss progress.

At the age of two, a youngster may enter the Day Nursery School, staffed by professionals. If, at the age of five, the youngster is able to enter public school, parents are encouraged to make this placement.

If a child five years or older cannot fit into a public school program, he may advance to the Day Training Center operated by this agency, where a licensed teacher and two professional aids will continue serious training until it is no longer needed.

The Association operates a summer camp to provide recreation and an understanding staff who are specially trained to create an enjoyable and healthy atmosphere for the children.

The Agency also provides monthly visits to state institutions and conducts a Christmas gift campaign for thousands of patients at Wassaic State School.

An adult education program is conducted at the Wassaic Half-Way House in Kingston, providing fundamental academic learning for youngsters who are leaving an institutional setting and returning to private life.

A speech therapist is provided at the Day Training Centers of the Association, where language and speech skills are taught, to provide emotional and intellectual functioning.

Transportation is provided for children of the Community Chest area, to and from their school situation, where it is economically feasible.

A physical education program is held weekly, in the evening, at a public school in the Kingston area. Any mentally retarded young person, or adult, is invited to attend and participate in the evening's fun.

Bi-monthly parties are held evenings at the Association offices, where youngsters enjoy games, records, and craft skills.

Religious education is encouraged and the director is working with the Kingston Area Church Women United (for Protestant children), St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church, and with the Temple, in Ellenville, on religious educational programs for the children of these faiths.

Enthused About Programs

The Association is most enthusiastic about a new program it hopes to open in January 1970. The Personal Aptitude Training Program would provide an opportunity for retarded young adults to gather for training and recreation under the guidance of a highly experienced instructor. This program would provide services to youngsters who are unable to participate in the usual, sheltered workshop programs.

COLLEEN F. came to the Association three years ago, with severe retardation and difficult physical problems. She was unable to walk, cried frequently and seemed unable to partake in any program. This year Coleen will be five-years-old — she walks without aid, speaks a few words, and sings songs with the music teacher. She enjoys coming to class and walks about the room, replacing objects which the other children may have forgotten.

VICKY P. came to the Association at the age of 2½ years, when her parents had been told "There is nothing that can be done except to take this child home and love her." Fortunately, Vicky's family had different ideas — and entered her in the Association's nursery program.

Diligent work was performed by the staff, and Vicky, now 7 years old, is enrolled in public school classes. This little girl, whose outlook was so bleak, now has a bright future ahead.

WALTER, age 33, lives at home with his widowed mother, and is now enjoying the personal satisfaction of earning a salary as a paid employe of a local firm. Walter's mother, one of the original members of the Association, is justly proud of the skills learned as a result of the concern of the Association for her child.

Dr. Flemming is married to the former Bernice Virginia Moler and Mr. and Mrs. Flemming are the parents of five children. The Flemmings hold membership in the Methodist Church.

'Mild' Quake Shakes Upstate

MASSENA, N. Y. (UPI) — A "mild" earthquake shook a section of northern New York and parts of Quebec and Ontario on Thursday night.

A spokesman for the Dominion Observatory in Ottawa said the earthquake recorded a reading of four on the Richter scale. The spokesman said they had reports of the tremor extending from Montreal and Ottawa south to Massena.

"It was very brief," one Massena resident said. It was like a heavy truck passing the house —it only lasted a few seconds.

"It shook lampshades and the doors clattered," she said.

Canadian officials recorded the shock at 8:08 p.m.

Urban Renewal and Its Future— Many Potential Uptown Developers

(Editor's Note): The Freeman concludes its two-part series on the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency today in which its executive director, James G. Connors, presents the agency's views on the much-criticized program in Kingston. Today, Connors reviews the agency's plans for the future in its three main redevelopment areas, residential, commercial and municipal.

* * *

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON

The Urban Renewal Agency divides its development program into three major areas: residential, commercial and municipal, the latter to include street improvements.

James G. Connors, executive director of the agency, said the agency expects to have 338 dwelling units either occupied or in construction in 1970.

The finishing touches are being put on 131 of those units by the Kingston Housing Authority in Broadway East. According to Connors, Rondout Gardens has 77 units of the 131 completed and occupied and the remainder should be completed and occupied by Oct. 31 of this year.

The land for Rondout Gardens was acquired and cleared by the urban renewal agency and sold to the housing authority for development.

The agency also expects to complete construction of a seven-home project in the Maple-Murray Streets neighborhood this year.

Perrenial Homes Inc. will build the single family attached dwellings during the fall for occupancy in early winter.

The residential planning board also shows a housing complex to be financed by a number of Kingston savings banks in the Broadway area adjacent to St. Mary's Church. Up to 200 units of private apartments are envisioned on the 10-acre site.

High interest rates and money problems have stalled the development of apartment housing in the North Front Street-Washington Avenue vicinity, according to Connors.

And Many More

Connors indicates that the agency has many more potential developers in the commercial field in the Uptown area.

These include a developer for the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company for construction of a modern facility on the corner of North Front and Converse Streets. Connors said that Goodyear officials have given their okay and that final approval is expected from the company's headquarters in Akron, O., in the immediate future. Connors anticipates having all necessary federal, state and city official approval by Oct. 31 at which time he says the site will be ready.

Connors says that negotiations between the agency and a developer for a 100,000 square-foot department store between Fair and Converse Streets is "progressing satisfactorily." Connors said that executives of the Forbes-Wallace Company, a major department store, are presently working on plans on how to best provide the "connector" between the Uptown area and the Kingston Plaza. Connors said that construction of the department store should begin by the spring of next year.

Connors also said that the most interest expressed by prospective large developers is in the Murphy Street area comprising approximately 10 acres of land.

"A local automobile dealer has requested consideration for a minimum of six acres of this land fronting on Washington Avenue." Connors said. He also said that Irving Spevak of Corbetta Enterprises of Poughkeepsie, has requested consideration for the entire area to be developed by a New York City-based firm that would initially employ up to 200 clerical workers.

A third developer for that area of land, the Westons Shoppers City Inc., was referred to the agency by William Robertson of the Kingston Trust Company, Connors said. They propose a 140,000 foot complex made up of the Weston store and a large food chain. Construction is expected in early 1970, Connors said.

Special

Connors expects construction to start this fall on a local kitchen design and manufacturing business that is being displaced by the agency's redevelopment program. The owner already has property in the Washington Avenue-Taylor Street area and Connors said the agency will sell him additional land to build his new plant.

Connors also said that plans have been proposed by a local funeral director for a funeral parlor in the Hurley Avenue-Taylor Street area. He said the site will be ready for redevelopment in early 1970.

A local real estate broker has expressed interest on behalf of his client, an Ulster County restaurateur, to build a modern facility in the Washington Avenue-Plaza Road vicinity. This site should be ready for development during 1970.

Another local developer has expressed interest in the Washington Avenue-Plaza Road vicinity for an office building to house a number of private and public agencies. Leasing discussions are underway between the developer and prospective tenants. Hopefully, construction can get started in 1970.

A local medical doctor has expressed interest in constructing a professional building in the Washington Avenue area. A site for this building can be made available in 1970.

The owners of a dry cleaning plant that is being displaced by the program have expressed interest in any site that may be available in the North Front Street area for construction of a combination dry cleaning plant and laundromat. A site is being considered for this facility and can be ready in early 1970.

Frustrating Parcel

Connors terms plans for a neighborhood shopping center in the Downtown project between Broadway and the proposed arterial highway as the "most frustrating commercial parcel in the project areas." The retail facility would consist of a supermarket and smaller stores to serve the residents of the downtown area of the city. Connors says he hopes the project can get underway next year. when the businessmen forward plans to the agency.

Site improvement work on a new Murray Street from Jarrold Street to the proposed arterial highway is nearing completion and should be finished this year, Connors says.

Final plans for two new public parks in Broadway East are nearing completion, one on the corner of Newkirk Avenue and Dubois Street and one at the foot of Broadway.

Agency engineers are preparing final specifications on the reconstruction of lower Broadway and Ferry Street. Connors says that the agency anticipates completing the underground work on Broadway from St. Mary's Church to

Plans for municipal construction include the proposed new city hall in Broadway East, set to go to bid, according to May or Raymond W. Garraghan, by Nov. 15.

Downtown plans also call for the construction some time next year of a new fire station at a cost of $170,000. It will be located south of Murray Street and east of the proposed arterial highway.

Construction of the new Clinton Avenue Extension and the realignment and construction of Converse Street are expected to begin this fall.

Canopy Plans Reviewed

Plans on the canopy for the Wall Street-North Front Street area are being reviewed by businessmen in the area. Connors said the agency will act on the businessmen's suggestions Union Street this fall with new paving in the spring.

Several construction firms have been in contact with the agency with plans to build the proposed Uptown parking garage on North Front Street within the agency's $720,000 budget. Connors said that he expects to have plans formulated on that project for presentation to the Common Council this fall.

In summary, Connors said:

"One course of action open for any local Redevelopment Agency is to blame Federal authorities or the complex mechanics of the program in the face of any criticism and take full credit for all positive accomplishments. We do not feel this course of action is fair and we have attempted to resolve problems and move the program rather than stand still and "pass the buck"

"In the past eight months, we have overcome a number of problems which were causing delay. We have had major land acquisition, relocation and site improvement problems and we will have more. But we have creatively sought solutions to expedite the redevelopment program in Kingston and we are overcoming delays."

DOWNTOWN UR WORK—LATTER STAGES

In Saugerties — Operation Cooperation

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

SAUGERTIES

Hostility has been the thorned barrier between Saugerties police and a fairly large group of local teenagers in this usually docile village in the Mid-Hudson Valley.

On the brighter side is a report coming out of a discussion of the problems this week among the principals which may have breached the communications gap and could return this Hudson River community to its former state of tranquility.

Like most communities, the teenagers mill about in groups on the streets for fun, conversation and companionship. In Saugerties as elsewhere, the teeners unintentionally block the sidewalks and storefronts in the business district creating an annoyance to both shoppers and shopkeepers.

The police respond to complaints and most of the time the young people move along peacefully. Occasionally a more rebellious youth may make a discourteous remark to the police officer and this starts the trouble. The young people themselves admit that this is how it usually starts. Then come the charges of harassment and mistreatment.

Late in September the Village Fathers closed down a mini-park on Partition Street after large congregations of young people reportedly trampled down flowers and damaged the one bench situated at the park. There were also complaints of excessive noise coming from the gathering, littering and the alleged use of abusive language.

As a result police cleared the park and in the process a 17-year-old, Garry Brooks of Dock Street, was arrested for refusing to leave the property. He was charged with harassment after allegedly refusing to cooperate and becoming abusive with the officer.

The matter was settled when the youth paid a $15 fine when he appeared before the village justice.

At this week's Village Board meeting a delegation of about 35 teenagers and parents complained that the police were harassing the young people and were overzealous in performing their duties of clearing the sidewalks of excessive assemblages.

The young people suggested that an informal meeeting be held with the police and officials and they would attend with a delegation of four including a spokesman.

Wednesday night the meeting was held and after a thorough discussion of the situation both the police and the teenagers promised full cooperation to alleviate the hostile atmosphere.

Police Commisioner Donald McCaig at that time said it was a step in the right direction and another informal session is scheduled for Nov. 10 to determine if the cooperation is working to the best interests of everyone.

Thomas Keefe of Washington Avenue, son of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Keefe, was the spokesman for the group. Some of the adults involved, two of which attended the informal session, claim that the police display animosity in their contacts with any youth with long hair in unusual attire.

The Keefes said that since the village closed the mini-park on Partition Street, the teenagers have been congregating in front of the Exchange Hotel, Newberry's store and Main Street Restaurant.

A similar situation in New Paltz resulted in the enactment of a loitering ordinance which was later repealed. The New Paltz incidents also precipitated an inquiry into alleged hostile behavior of Village police personnel. The answer for Saugerties may be revealed in the Nov. 10 meeeting.

LWV Offers Speaker Bureau

KINGSTON

The League of Women Voters is again making available, to service organizations in the Kingston area, a Speaker's Bureau. The League has provided speakers on various topics to local organizations for many years. In the past this Speaker's Bureau has helped to educate local citizens on matters such as registration and voting as well as topics the League has studied.

League members are now available to present information on the amendments that will appear on the Nov. 4 general election ballot. The first amendment would permit the loan of State or Municipal funds or credit for construction of hospitals and related facilities. The second amendment enables the State - guaranteed borrowing power of the New York Job Development Authority to be increased from $59 million to $150 million. The third amendment would add a "Bill of Rights" for conservation to the Constitution, making it State policy to conserve and protect our natural resources and scenic beauty. The fourth amendment provides that for the purpose of apportioning the Senate and Assembly Districts, aliens would be counted in the population base.

ROAST BEEF SUPPER—Members of Sisterhood of Temple Emanuel met recently at the home of Mrs. Robert A. Ronder, Rolling Meadows, Kingston, to complete the mailing for Sisterhood's annual roast beef supper. The event will take place Wednesday, Oct. 29 from 5:30 until all are served. Committee members pictured here include (l-r) Mrs. Herbert Kletske, Mrs. Alfred Ronder, Mrs. Irving Goldberg, and Mrs. Roy Freeman. (Freeman photo by Haines)

Ballerina Speaks Before Musical Society

A capacity attendance of members and guests of the Musical Society of Kingston enjoyed the organization's annual dinner meeting Sawyerkill Restaurant in Saugerties when noted ballerina, Miss Janet Reed, guest speaker, reviewed and shared her past theatrical experiences with her audience.

Director of the Kingston School of Ballet at 243 Fair Street, Miss Reed was introduced by Miss Agatha Snyder, chairman of the annual meeting's program and a student at Miss Reed's ballet school.

Known in private life as Mrs. Bronson Erskine, Miss Reed was prima ballerina of two major American companies, Ballet Theater and Balanchine's New York City Ballet. This phase of her career was followed by that of ballet mistress for New York City Ballet which involved assisting Balanchine in rehearsing performances in the repertory, as well as auditioning and coaching individual dancers. Some of these dancers, prominent stars today, include Edward Villella, Patricia McBride, Arthur Mitchell, Allegra Kent, Melissa Hayden.

Various photographs of Miss Reed and other ballet stars, which were taken at actual performances, were shown to the guests, along with personal excerpts from Miss Reed's memories regarding the lives and accomplishments of many of the dancers.

A creator of leading roles in ballets still being performed, Miss Reed has been an important influence during the important recent period in the history of dance.

Mrs. Roland Tonnesen, president of the Musical Society, spoke briefly expressing appreciation to Mrs. Robert Stedge, program chairman for 1969-70 season, for her efforts and artistic management. The invocation was given by Miss Lucinda Merritt, Kingston piano teacher.

Hurley Grade Teacher Retires

A retirement dinner for Mrs. F. Mae Nash, fifth grade teacher at Hurley School, was held at the Capri "400" Restaurant, Port Ewen, on Monday, Sept. 29, with 75 persons in attendance.

Frank Ebelheiser, master of ceremonies, presented Mrs. Nash with a gift from Hurley School faculty. Principal of Hurley School, Ernest Myers, spoke about her many dedicated years of service at the school.

A graduate of Salem Teach- Mrs. Nash received her degree from State University of New York at New Paltz. She just completed 18 years of service at Hurley School and before coming to Hurley taught in Massachusetts.

Mrs. Nash resides in Hurley with her husband, Arthur. They are the parents of Dr. Richard Nash of Messina; Robert of DeWitt; and Mrs. Patricia Glennon of Millbrook.

Betrothal Announced

MARIA TERESA CAROLLO
(Photo Workshop)

Mr. and Mrs. Albino Carollo of Route 1, Box 381B Kingston, announce the engagement of their daughter, Maria Teresa, to James P. Figueroa, stepson and son, respectively, of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Jurdak of 153-76th Street, Brooklyn.

Miss Carollo is a graduate of Kingston High School and a dean's list student at the College of Mount Saint Vincent in Riverdale. Miss Carollo will be spending her junior year abroad, where she is majoring in French at the Institut Catholique de Paris.

Her fiance was awarded his BS degree in chemistry from Fordham University, where he was president of the Alpha Phi Omega fraternity. Mr. Figueroa is presently studying for his MD at the University of Rome School of Medicine in Italy.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Anniversary Celebration

Mr. and Mrs. Silas T. Beatty of 71 Washington Avenue, Saugerties, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary on Sunday, Oct. 12.

Friends of the couple are invited to an open house hosted by their family from 1 to 4 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. K. DuBois, 28 Russell Street, Saugerties.

International Festival Opens At Paltz University Oct. 16

The fourth annual International Festival, concentrating this year on Mexico and Brazil and bringing to the Mid-Hudson region some of the Western Hemisphere's leading specialists on Latin America, will open at State University College, New Paltz, Oct. 16, college president Dr. John J. Neumaier announced today.

Over the next eight weeks, nearly 40 lectures, art exhibits, films, and music and dance programs will be featured, with all events open to the public without charge.

Past Festivals have covered India, Sub-Saharan Africa, and Japan, and have brought thousands of visitors to the New Paltz campus for the numerous events.

This year's opening coincides with a State University-sponsored series, "Conversations in the Disciplines," expected to attact over a 100 Latin Americanists scholars and government officials to New Paltz to examine current issues in Middle and South America.

Presenting the keynote address for the International Festival and the "Conversations" will be the Chairman of the Inter-American Committee on Alliance for Progress, Carlos Sanz de Santamaria, of Colombia. The address, on "The Alliance for Progress and Development in Latin America," will be given in the Main Auditorium at 8:30 p.m. Friday, Oct. 17.

Brazilian Ambassador, The Honorable Mario Gibson Barboza, and Consul-General Eugenio V. Pesqueira, of the Mexican Consulate, New York City will open the Festival at 3:00 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 16 with addresses in the college's new Lecture Center. A Diplomatic Reception for the two speakers will follow at 4:30 p.m. in the college Art Gallery when an exhibit on Contemporary Art of Mexico and Brazil will also open. Five other art shows on Mexico and Brazil will also be presented during the International Festival.

The International Festival Committee at New Paltz has been co-chaired by Dr. Harry Hammer, Associate Dean, and Aaron Miller, Assistant to the President. Dr. Maxwell I. Klayman, professor of economics, has chaired the Latin American committee for the 1969 Festival.

Area residents, students, and teachers are provided the following Calendar of Events for the entire International Festival. Calendars may also be obtained from the Office of Public Relations, State University College, New Paltz, New York.

School Secretaries Attend State Conference

The Educational Secretaries of the Kingston Area were represented at the State Conference of the New York State Association of Educational Secretaries held at Syracuse recently. Miss Betty Dierks and Mrs. Margaret McCardle, president of the local Educational Secretaries, from Kingston High School and Miss Bouise Prochaska from the J. Watson Bailey School were in attendance. Mrs. Ann Smith of Ulster County Community College also attended.

The Friday morning session was greeted by Mrs. Prudence Wehner, president of the NYSAES and Mr. John L. Nostrant, president of the New York State Association of Secondary School Administrators. Workshops followed and included such topics as Updating Office Procedures, School Accounting, Graphoanalysis and others. At noon a luncheon was served to the delegates. The afternoon workshops included such topics as Program and Workshop Planning, How to Start an Association and other topics of interest to local organizations. On Friday night, the group attended a dinner at the Three Rivers Inn where they were entertained by Frank Sinatra Jr. and his company.

Saturday workshops consisted of such topics as Retirement System Benefits, The Internal Revenue Service and You and a program from the Public Employment Relations Board. In the evening, the delegates were entertained by the Balfour Company before a dinner was served. At this meeting the new officers were installed. The group was also entertained by Bea Solomon, Syracuse's First Lady of the Broadway Theatre who gave her impressions of "Great Ladies of Broadway".

The Educational Secretaries of the Kingston Area represents the secretarial and clerical employees of the Kingston Schools Consolidated.

Montalvos Observe 25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Montalvo of Dowling Road in Albany, formerly of Stone Ridge, were guests of honor Saturday, Sept 27 at a party in American Legion Hall, Stone Ridge, in celebration of their 25th wedding anniversary.

The party was given by their children, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Montalvo of Stone Ridge; Mr. and Mrs. Peter Montalvo of Australia; and Miss Marilyn Montalvo of Albany.

Married Sept. 30, 1944, the couple renewed their vows Sunday, Sept. 28 in St. Peter's Church, Rosendale. The Rev. Robert Saccoman officiated. Mr. and Mrs. Montalvo are now on a wedding anniversary trip to Buffalo. They are both employed at the State Campus at Albany.

Approximately 75 guests attended the reception. Gifts were also received from relatives and friends who were unable to attend.

Wiltwyck DAR Resumes Meetings

The work-year of Wiltwyck Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, began Monday evening, Oct. 6 at the Chapter House with Mrs. Floyd N. Ellsworth, regent, conducting.

Welcomed into membership was Mrs. Carleton B. King of Mt. Marion.

The 79th birthday of the National Society will be Oct. 11 and 189,000 members in this country and overseas are expected to observe it. Wiltwyck Chapter will do this in conjunction with its annual observance October 16 of the anniversary of the Burning of Kingston by the British. It will entertain the DAR Good Citizens (Senior girls from Ulster County High Schools) and the State Chairman of that Committee Mrs. Howard L. Laib of Red Hook, with guest privilege for members.

Mrs. Harry J. Rigby Jr. announced the special historic tour which will include the Chapter House Saturday when members in Colonial costume will greet the guests.

Resolutions were presented by Mrs. Arthur C. Hazenbush upon the deaths of the Mmes. A R. Newcombe, Hiram C. Whitney, Edward Fitzgerald, Alwin Feuerstein and a moment of silence was observed in their memory.

Contributions of toys and books for the Indian children on the State Reservations were asked by Mrs. Eugene Hoffman and contributions of money for Christmas gifts for the Chapter's Tamassee School child were requested by Miss Cheryl Reis, chairman.

The report of the New York State Conference held at Syracuse September 24-26 was given by the delegate, Mrs. Adam H. Porter, who announced the special recognition of the Chapter's 1969-70 program and year book, of which Mrs. George F. Dingee was chairman.

Mrs. Porter mentioned the excellent coverage given Wiltwyck Chapter's activities by The Kingston Daily Freeman; also mentioned was the USA Bicentennial 1976 for which all chapters are to present a program incidental to its area, and Kingston with its spectacular background in the Revolutionary War will have a unique position, so many visitors should be attracted here at that time.

Supper hostesses were the Mmes. Howard R. St. John, G. Herbert DeKay, John H. Haulenbeek, Raymond E. Craft.

Recitation of the American's Creed concluded the meeting.

Salzmann on Dean's List

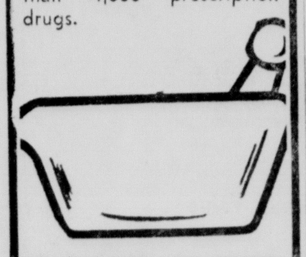

Thomas N. Salzmann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Salzmann, 166 Wrentham Street, Kingston, has been named to the dean's lift at Colgate University, Hamilton, for academic achievement in the spring semester of 1969.

At Colgate an average of 3.2 on a scale of 4 for a semester's work earns the student a place on the dean's list the following semester.

Thomas is a chemistry major.

To Meet Wednesday

The Ulster County Legal Secretaries Association will hold a regular monthly meeting at Governor Clinton Hotel Wednesday, Oct. 15 at 7 p.m.

Guest speaker will be Christine Klein.

Reservations may be made by contacting Mrs. Vera Elliott of Kingston.

Attend Reception

Mrs. William Brinnier, County Vice Chairman, Ulster County Republican Committee, and Mrs. Maria J. Dunham, member of the Executive Committee, State Committee, attended a small reception given by Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller at the Executive Mansion in Albany, on Thursday, Oct. 9. This reception was given for members of the Republican State Committee, County Chairmen and Vice Chairmen, and officers of the State Committee.

Representatives from 14 counties were invited. This type of gathering carries out the idea of Governor Rockefeller that it is more productive to hold small assemblies periodically than on encompassing the whole State. Also present was Albert Spada, Ulster County Chairman of the Republican Committee.

Performed in Concerts

Frances Gould, violinist of New Salem, performed in two concerts last week with Hudson Valley Philharmonic Orchestra as part of the summer series Sounds of Music programs.

Performances were held in Poughkeepsie and Newburgh, under the direction of Claude Monteux.

NIFTY FAKE FUR CHAPEAU — The "now" generation that's been so negative about headgear in the past is suddenly doing nip-ups over neat, nifty fake fur chapeau that enhance face and features, flatter a natural hairdo, and offer blissful warmth without weight. Authentically patterned after genuine fur pelts, these millinery marvels are deep pile knits created of durable, synthetic fibers by Norwood Mills, Inc., Janesville, Wis. And versatility is the name of the heady game as witness the happy, hatted trio above. At left is a devastatingly demure cuddle cap created by Mademoiselle who ties up the subject in a curly lamb of a shag at just $8. The foxy Cossack shape with matching barrel muff is the wizard work of Coty award winner, Halston for Tally Ho. In rich, russet tones, hat and muff are each $9. At right, Gresack Bros., do their imaginative thing in a tall, toasty toque for a mere $8. Precious in all but price, these bold pretenders make ideal gifts since all styles are designed to fit any head size.

Hints from Heloise

By HELOISE CRUISE

Dear Heloise:

Here's a little item that is so nice for church bazaars, school carnivals, even remembrances for shut-ins, and it's so easy to make.

All you need is a small flower pot (decorated as desired), and apple that will fit into the pot, a piece of nylon net (15 inches square), a small spray of artifical flowers, yarn or ribbon, and a box of whole cloves.

Take the apple and pierce it (a corn on the cob holder works beautifully); then fill each hole with a whole clove. Push the cloves in as far as they will go.

After the apple is completely covered with cloves, set it in the middle of the square of nylon net and bring up the four corners of the net to form four peaks. Tie the apple in tightly with the yarn or ribbon and then set in the flower pot.

Add the little spray of artificial flowers and you're through.

I recently saw one of these that was fifteen years old. The apple was hard as a rock but still smelled good.

I call it my everlasting bouquet.

Hazel

And I call you a perfect angel!

Letter of Laughter.

Dear Heloise:

Don't you agree that many problems have been settled over a cup of coffee?

Well, in my case the problem was settled IN it.

My son was ready to leave for school — ten minutes 'til tardy bell — and his shoelace broke.

Catastrophe! Not a brown shoelace in the house. Only white. So I just dropped them in the cup of strong black coffee I was drinking, took them out and squeezed them dry and, right before our very eyes, "brown shoelaces!" And he beat the tardy bell!

Another problem solved thanks to that wonderful brew, and all I had to do was pour me another cup.

Dear Heloise:

I always line my plastic diaper pail with one of those leakproof plastic garbage pail liners.

I fill it with my usual solution and put in the diapers as always.

I do, however, alternate bags for sanitary purposes. You know those bags can be washed and reused over and over again.

You would be amazed at how long they last.

Dear Heloise:

I wonder if anyone has ever given you this hint?

When I make jelly, I always add butter or margarine to the hot juice to prevent the foam that rises on the top. This foam has to be skimmed off before pouring into the jars.

To four or five cups of juice I add a tablespoon of margarine and presto, the foam is gone.

Mrs. M. Cowan

You did it . . . now all I can think about is a great big slice of homemade bread just oozing with butter and spread with a big glob of homemade jelly . . . Ohhhh, ecstasy!

Doing the Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST of the Emily Post Institute

CONTRIBUTIONS TO PARTY SHOULD BE ACKNOWLEDGED

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband's mother and sister selected the 4th of July weekend to have a farewell party for his brother and family. My mother-in-law and sister-in-law prepared the guest list, planned the menu, and then called me to let me know which two dishes to prepare. The day of the party my husband was asked for money to help pay for extras. I couldn't understand why my sister-in-law had asked my husband for $10 because she had said to me, "Everyones' been so nice, all I had to do was buy paper plates."

But this is the part that hurt. The guests of honor were thanking my sister-in-law profusely in my presence and they didn't say a word to me. In such a situation, does the person at whose home the party is being held tell the guest of honor that his brother also contributed?—Mrs. J.

Dear Mrs. J.: I see no reason that your husband should not have contributed—anonymously—to the party for his brother if his sister ran a little short of cash. However, the guests of honor should definitely have been told that you had contributed some of the dishes, and they should have thanked you in person at the time, or later by note.

Marries Without Father's Approval

Dear Mrs. Post: What does the bride-to-be do if her father says he will not walk her down the aisle because he does not approve of the marriage? How should the invitations be written? And how should questions involving this situation be handled?—Lucille

Dear Lucille: I assume that your father will not pay for, or be host at, your wedding reception. Therefore, the invitions are sent in your name: "The honour of your presence is requested at the marriage of Miss Lucile Smith to Mr. John Doe, etc. . . ."

If another relative or godparent will consent to escort you, he may; if not, you may walk down the aisle alone. Reply to questions as briefly as possible — "Dad preferred not to escort me, so I asked Uncle Jim." Make as little of it as possible and fewer people will pry into the whys and wherefores.

Mother and Stepmother Named In Announcement

Dear Mrs. Post: Our mother died when my brother was an infant. Our father remarried 15 years ago. She has been a good stepmother. How should the engagement announcement of my brother and his fiancee be worded so that she will not feel left out, and due respect will be paid to our mother? — Janet

Dear Janet: In order to include both your mother's and stepmother's names in the announcement of your brother's engagement, the wording must be as follows: "Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Black, announce the engagement of their daughter, Susan, to Mr. Charles J. Brown of Freeport. Mr. Brown's father and stepmother are Mr. and Mrs. William Brown. His mother was the late Jane Carter Brown . . ."

Tasty Goodies for Halloween Fun!

"TRICK-OR-TREAT" means fun and food for the children in the neighborhood. Treat them to tasty, chewy Molasses Puff Balls made with nutritious puffed rice.

Halloween promises all sorts of eeeries doings. Witches, owls and black cats prowl the neighborhood by the flickering light of bright orange jack-o'-lanterns.

If you respond to cries of "Trick or treat!" with these chewy Molasses Puff Balls, your house will be the most popular stop in the block on Halloween eve. Even the ghosts and goblins can't resist this tasty combination of puffed rice, peanuts and molasses. Shaped into attractive, east-to-eat balls, the candy is truly tempting.

Molasses Puff Balls are versatile fall-flavored treats. They're fine for lunch boxes or for sending to school for a youngster's homeroom Halloween party. As after-school snacks or party refreshments they're fine fare when paired with apple cider or mugs of milk. And of course they're welcome trick-or-treat goodies. Be sure to wrap the candy balls in plastic wrap or insert them in small waxed paper bags before giving them to Holloween visitors.

Molasses Puff Balls

Makes 12 Balls

6 cups puffed rice
½ cup of Spanish peanuts
½ cup light corn syrup
½ cup molasses
1 teaspoon vinegar
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 teaspoon vanilla

Heat puffed rice in shallow baking pan in preheated moderate over (350 degrees F.) about 10 minutes. Pour into greased large bowl; add peanuts.

Combine syrup, molasses, vinegar and salt in medium-sized saucepan. Bring to boil, stirring constantly. Cook, stirring occasionally to the hard ball stage (255 degrees F) or until syrup dropped into cold water forms a ball which is hard enough to hold its shape, yet is plastic. Remove from heat; stir in butter and vanilla.

Pour over puffed rice and peanuts, stirring until evenly coated. With greased hands, shape to form 12 medium balls.

Helpful Hints

To divide a whole raw egg in half when halving a recipe that calls for one egg beat it in a measuring cup just until yolks and whites are combined, then divide easily.

If leftover cooked rice is often on hand, fold it into creamy puddings or pancake batter for interesting texture. It's especially good in meat loaf or meat balls, too.

40th Anniversary For L. Loerzels

Mr. and Mrs. Lorenz F. Loerzel of 213 Partition Street, Saugerties, were entertained by their children at a family dinner party at Luchow's famous New York City Restaurant in honor of their 40th wedding anniversary Saturday, Sept. 27.

Mr. and Mrs. Loerzel were married Sept. 25, 1929 by the late Rev. Martin P. O'Gara in St. Mary of the Snow Church.

Their family attending the dinner with them were Mary Lou who resides at home; Mr. and Mrs. Lorenz Loerzel Jr. and son Kurt from Albany; and David C. Loerzel from Cambridge, Mass.

Walker Coming Here October 20

WILLIAM WALKER

Metropolitan Opera baritone William Walker is a six-footer with seven-league boots. For him, it's a short step from a Broadway musical to Brahms Lieder, from the Hollywood Bowl to the Cleveland Orchestra and from television to the Metropolitan Opera.

On October 20 at 8:30 p.m., William Walker will be on the stage of the Community Concerts of Kingston, according to John McCullough, president.

The Metropolitan Opera's young leading baritone William Walker is a singer whose career so far can be summed up by two words: consumate versatility.

William Walker made his Metropolitan debut in 1962 after he was top winner in the Met auditions. Since then he has sung roles there and on the company's national tours ranging from Papageno in Mozart's "Magic Flute" to Prince Yeletsky in Tchaikovsky's "Queen of Spades." On Broadway he starred as Lucille Ball's leading man in "Wildcat" and he appeared in starring roles in summer stock productions of "Carousel," "Damn Yankees" and "Showboat," to name but a few. As a recitalist, he has been unanimously acclaimed not only for his rich baritone voice, but for his witty personality and his charm as a raconteur. With his beautiful voice and his "gift of gab," William Walker has been in demand on such shows as Johnny Carson's Tonight Show, The Merv Griffin Show and The Mike Douglas Show.

Opera, recital, Broadway and television — William Walker has done them all and continues to win his audience's accolades and critical raves from his reviewers.

In Memphis, the reviewer for the Commercial Appeal headlined: "William Walker Sings, Talks to Delight of 4,000." He continued, "It was an especially triumphant evening for Mr. Walker and the Memphis Concert Orchestra."

The headline of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram read: "Baritone Walker Gets Standing Ovations," under which was a review full of praise. "Walker Concert Has Audience Approval," was the headline in a recent edition of the Fort Worth Press. The critic went on to say, "Let it be said that William Walker is more than just a good singer who has a Metropolitan Opera contract. His pleasing personality and warm, outgoing spirit were in evidence from the beginning. The audience responded by honoring him and themselves with wild applause and standing ovations."

A critic for the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette wrote in his review of a William Walker recital: "Walker is an effective showman; he is also the owner of a fine voice, which he uses with considerable technical skill."

William Walker was born in Texas (and he still wears custom-made western-style clothes and loves nothing better than a good backyard Texas barbecue). This Texas-sized talent manifested itself at an early age and he was singing a lot, even as a young boy. At Texas Christian University, from which he was graduated with a Bachelor of Arts degree, he was a voice student of John Brigham.

A veteran of the Korean conflict, he served with the 40th Infantry during which he was awarded the Bronze Star Medal.

William Walker made his operatic debut with the Fort Worth Opera as Schaunard in La Boheme." It was a foretaste of things to come. Competitions are the "bread and butter" for young singers on their way up and through these contests, young singers achieve their first recognition. William Walker first won the National Teachers of Singing Award. He then went on to the Met auditions in the Dallas regionals, winning a third prize. He next competed in New York getting to the Met's semi-finals and on his third attempt, he won a contract.

William Walker and his lovely wife Marci live out on Long Island and have four children, Nancy, David, Tom and John. The Walkers collect contemporary American art works, both sculptures and paintings.

Community Concert Tickets Mailed

Community Concert memberships have been mailed.

Those who have not received their tickets should contact the membership secretary Mrs. Harry Seitz, 85 Washington Avenue, Kingston.

The first concert will be October 20 at 8:30 p.m. in the Community Theatre. William Walker, leading baritone, will be the featured guest.

Catskill Glee Club Concert

Olive Memorial Post No. 1627, The American Legion, will sponsor a concert by the Catskill Glee Club at Onteora Central School on Monday, Oct. 13, at 8:15 p.m.

The Catskill Glee Club, well known in the area, is under the direction of Donald Fellows. Featured performers will include John McCullough and Mary Ann McCullough, both from Kingston.

Olive Memorial Post Commander is Thomas Fickus. Tickets may be obtained from any Legionnaire or at the door.

Berton S. Ketchum Attends Conference

Berton S. Ketchum, Onteora Central Schools, Boiceville, was among the representatives of 34 schools in Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York and New Jersey who attended an admissions conference at Bennett College, Millbrook, Friday, Oct. 3.

The visitors were guidance counselors, principals, and admissions counselors, and purpose of the conference was to acquaint them with Bennett College and the various programs this two-year college for women can offer prospective students.

Arriving at 9:30, the visitors spent the morning visiting Bennett classes. They lunched with students. Following this they heard talks on 'Bennett College Today" by Donald J. Calista, chairman of the College's social sciences department, and dean of Students Ida M. Lewis. They were then taken on a tour of Bennettt's 215-acre campus and concluded their day as guests at tea with the Bennett faculty.

Coach House Players

The regular meeting of the Coach House Players will be held at the Coach House, 12 Augusta Street, on Monday, Oct. 13 at 8 p.m. After the business meeting, two comedy sketches will be presented by Linda and George Quartell who also wrote and directed the sketches.

Refreshments will be served and auditions held for the Winter Workshop production of a one-act play. The public is invited to attend.

Rummage Sale

A rummage sale, sponsored by Sisterhood of Agudas Achim, will be held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 13-15, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at 24 West Union Street.

Clothing, household items and miscellaneous articles will be available.

SAUGERTIES

Window Art Contest

SAUGERTIES

Saugerties Jaycees are making preparations for the Saugerties annual Halloween Window Painting Contest, to be held Saturday, Oct. 25

The contest is open to all junior and senior high school students attending Saugerties Schools.

Rockwell Harwood is chairman with the following committee: Robert Ricketson and James Mowrer. More details will be announced.

The annual event serves to decorate the business district of the Village of Saugerties for the Halloween season.

Permission is secured from the store owners and students are assigned store windows for their art work. The contest is usually set up for competition within designated age groups.

The picture of scores of youngsters in various painting ensembles holding an assortment of cans, buckets and oth etr available containers, dabbing, brushing and smearing, will do much to dress up the village scene for the fall season.

Handcraft Club Holds Auction; Sets Open House

SAUGERTIES

An auction sale was the feature of the Handcraft Club meeting last week at Saugerties Savings Bank meeting room.

Members brought items which were auctioned by Mrs. Marilyn Walker, assisted by Mrs. Ella Whitaker.

The meeting which preceded was opened by the chairman, Mrs. Charlotte Althiser, who welcomed a new member, Mrs. Florence Myers.

Plans were made for the Christmas open house to be held on October 16 in the Municipal Auditorium in Kingston. The display of Christmas tree ornaments will be in charge of Mrs. Velma Krom and Mrs. Marjorie Keith. Members who have made decorations they wish to exhibit are asked to leave them at the home of the chairman by October 14.

There will be a class for those wishing to make spool ornaments on Wednesday, Oct. 29, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. The teacher will be Mrs. Lou Carnright.

Instructions for making bound buttonholes will be given by Mrs. Marion Koniuk at 10 a.m. on November 6, the regular meeting date.

The annual banquet of Cooperative Extension will be held on November 8 at Villa Neueva, Plattekill.

Refreshments following the meeting were served by Mrs. Koniuk, Mrs. Elsie Knudsen, Mrs. Frances Martino, and Mrs. Beulah Kloes.

Community Club Hears Talk on Heart Disease

SAUGERTIES

A local physician addressed the regular meeting of Girls Community Club of Saugerties last week at the home of Mrs. Vincent Voerg.

Several guests were present to hear Dr. Herman Ash speak on Heart Disease and the proper foods to eat to help avoid heart attacks. A lengthy discussion period followed.

It was decided to hold the Christmas party December 14 at the Sawyerkill Restaurant.

The next meetting will be held at the home of Mrs. Elsie Thornton Wednesday, Nov. 5 at 8:30 p. m.

GOP Candidates Set Tour

In a continuing campaign to meet and talk to the voters of the Town of Saugerties, the Republican Town candidates for election on Nov. 4 will visit Districts 1 and 14 in the village on Saturday, Donald McCaig, town chairman announced.

With the person to person approach the candidates are able to discuss the issues face to face with the citizens, McCaig said.

Earlier visits to other districts have shown active interest on the part of the voting public. All votes regardless of party affiliation should feel free to chat with the candidates on their tour, McCaig concluded.

Morse School Choir Conducts First Rehearsal

Auction Slated

SAUGERTIES

An auction, sponsored by Saugerties Democratic Club, will be held Saturday, Oct. 18 on the American Legion Grounds, John Street, Saugerties. Public display will be from 10 a.m. to 12 noon.

Auction will be held at 1 p.m. Proceeds are to be used for community services. All items are new and will include: Picnic items, lawn tables, chairs, Coleman stove, tent canopy, luggage, lamps, mirrors, tables, household articles and children's items, car seats, strollers, toys. In case of rain it will be held indoors.

School Closing

Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, superintendent of Saugerties Schools, announced that all public schools in the district will be closed Monday, Oct. 13, in recognition of Columbus Day, which falls on Sunday this year. Regular sessions will resume on Tuesday, Oct. 14.

WOODSTOCK

Supervisor Hopeful Stresses Recreation

WOODSTOCK

"As a town and as parents the providing of adequate recreation for our youngsters is a matter demanding more planned attention," said Michael J. Boyle, candidate for town supervisor in Woodstock.

"I believe it is the town's responsibility to provide basic recreational facilities and the people's responsibilty to use the facilities and use them properly."

Boyle went on to say, "I feel that over a 10-year period the town should acquire at least four additional fields for our youngsters in the hamlets of Zena, Bearsville, Wittenberg and Lake Hill. Since the most rapid growth is in Zena, it would be wise to purchase a site in this area first, while a suitable site can still be purchased at a reasonable price."

"These fields need only be open spaces of at least four acres each initially," stated Boye, "but it would guarantee our youngsters and a few hardy fathers throughout the district a safe, usuable place to play. I am sure, if the residents in these hamlets could identify their youngsters enjoyment with a town recreation field in their area, the local residents would do much to improve and expand the facilities of these fields."

Candidate Boyle also made the point, "It seems unfair to concentrate all the town's recreational funds and facilities in one area of such a large township."

In conclusion, Boyle said, "The need for swimming facilities as part of our total program has been well expressed I feel we should consider revamping the small town pool into a wading pool for our smallest youngsters and continue a contract with Swim-O-Links on a share cost basis for the older youngsters. After checking the cost of, and greatest possible use of, a town swimming program for week days, it is easy to see that we can offer our youngsters more swimimng recreation for less money on a contractural basis."

Mets - Baltimore Break Even in Area Poll

By JIM MASSA

Twenty local predictions give the Mets a much better chance in the World Series than the big spenders do. After polling the local crystal ballers, the Mets came up on even terms with the Baltimore Orioles.

Before I give you the right prediction let me break down the result of the polling. First of all, ten gazers said the series would go six games, five forecasted seven games, while four others suggested it would go five, and one called it a sweep.

Baltimore's ten votes were broken up with one going all the way, seven calling it over in six. One let the Mets win one and the other was a true believer in the Orioles as he called it over in four.

The Mets were more evenly disbursed with four picking them in seven games while they were picked by three others to win in six and five.

In all fairness to the Baltimore Orioles club and fans, I must admit they had the American League's best in baseball, but there is a National League and that's why the Orioles will fall in four games.

I could write ten pages of statistics and argument that would show one team better than the other on paper but, as in any sport, it's what takes place on the field and breaks are a part of it, no matter who gets them.

I have heard many people say that the pressure of World Series gets to a team that has never been there before. Well, I don't think the pressure could get any higher than it was on August 13, when the New York Mets were tied for second place with the St. Louis Cardinals, 8½ games behind the Chicago Cubs.

From that date until the end of the National league division playoffs with Atlanta, the New York Mets terrorized their opponents. The Mets have won 41 of 53 ball games going into the Series. If you don't call winning 41 of 53 games in August, September and October pressure, what do you call it?

I'll just end with, "if the Mets don't win the World Series in four games the Orioles deserve to win, as they should be no competition for the New Yorkers."

Charles J. Tiano—Sports Editor of The Kingston Daily Freeman whose predictions in the past and most recent have prevailed, like the Jets to top Baltimore in the Super Bowl, picks the Orioles in seven games. "Baltimore has been through it before and are geared for it and have a better all around club that will prevail over the Mets heroics," says Tiano.

* * *

Mort Laffin—of The Freeman Sports staff says, "I'm a believer in the Mets. It will go five games." Laffin states there is no better explanation other than the one Tom Seaver gave; "If God is a Met fan, and it appears that he is, the Orioles don't stand a chance."

* * *

Richard Treat—General Manager of The Freeman has to go with the Orioles since he's a fan coming from Boston and it will go only five.

Louis Netter—Editor of The Freeman. The Mets proved they could hit against Atlanta and have a good defense. This along with the sentimental factor I have to go with the Mets in seven.

Ken Wolf — Athletic Director at Ulster County Community College would like to see Baltimore win but, has to pick the Mets as they have something going for them that's intangible, in seven games.

* * *

Mark Cranfield — Wrestling coach at UCCC takes the Mets in six on momentum.

* * *

Mike Perry—Basketball and golf coach at UCCC is rooting for the Mets but, has to pick Baltimore in six games because he feels the World Series atmosphere will get to the Mets and Baltimore has been through it before.

* * *

Mike Ferraro — International League's all-star third baseman and Baltimore Oriole Farm system player with the Rochester Red Wings says, "The Orioles will win in six games. Baltimore is the best club in the majors today and the Mets explosion against Atlanta was because the Braves' pitching is not that good. The Mets had beaten Atlanta 8 out of 12 in the regular season."

* * *

Andy Murphy—Head of Kingston Recreation Department takes the Mets in seven as they have the best one and two pitchers in baseball. Seaver and Koosman will win two each."

* * *

Bill Hurley — Kingston High School Athletic Director picks the Mets in five games simply because he likes them.

* * *

Mike Rienzo — Kingston High's Baseball coach of last year and newly installed basketball coach picks the Mets also in five games. Mets have pitching and momentum to offset the Baltimore power.

* * *

Ron Gabriele — WGHQ's Sports Editor picks the Baltimore Orioles in four straight games. "The Orioles are better in every department."

* * *

Fred Davi — Mr. Baseball of the Kingston area says, "Baltimore in six games as Tom Seaver and Jerry Koosman will win one game each and that's it for the Mets."

* * *

Paul Giannuzzi — Kingston Braves manager likes the Orioles overall balance and forecasts them to win in six. They have the best club in major for past 10-12 years.

* * *

Jim Tyrrell — Republican candidate for Mayor in the city of Kingston says "Who else but the Mets, Baltimore hasn't been able to beat a New York team this year. Seaver and Koosman will win two games each as it will be over in six."

* * *

Frank Koenig — Democratic candidate for Mayor in the City of Kingston, picks the Mets in seven because "of better pitching and you'd have to be crazy to pick someone to beat them this year."

* * *

Irwin Thomas—City Editor of The Freeman, is a National League fan, but his pick is the Orioles in six. "I feel the Orioles' experience from the past and better balance all around will top the Mets."

* * *

Pete Barrecchia — Managing Editor of The Freeman, says, "The Mets are lucky enough to win two games but Baltimore will win in six as they have the better team."

* * *

Ed Palladino—Assistant City Editor of The Freeman, calls the outcome in favor of the Orioles in six games. "Better pitching, hitting and more depth, along with the fact that the four-day layoff will cut the Mets' momentum, is my reasoning," says Palladino.

* * *

Mayor Garraghan—"The Mets in six; Baltimore will be lucky in only two games."

* * *

Ralph Robinson — Kingston Braves coach says, "Baltimore in six games as Seaver and Koosman will win two games each as it will be over in six."

* * *

Jim Tyrrell — Republican candidate for Mayor in the city of Kingston says "Who else but the Mets, Baltimore hasn't been able to beat a New York team this year. Seaver and Koosman will win two games each as it will be over in six."

* * *

Frank Koenig — Democratic candidate for Mayor in the City of Kingston, picks the Mets in seven because "of better pitching and you'd have to be crazy to pick someone to beat them this year."

* * *

Irwin Thomas—City Editor of The Freeman, is a National League fan, but his pick is the Orioles in six. "I feel the Orioles' experience from the past and better balance all around will top the Mets."

New York's Tom Seaver Ready for Orioles' Sluggers

IT'S NOT RON SANTO! Infielder Bud Harrelson of the N.Y. Mets is in an exuberant mood as he leaps into air to toss ball during workout at Shea Stadium here yesterday. Later, Harrelson and his champion companions departed for Baltimore for the Saturday opening of the 1969 World Series against the Orioles. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

BALTIMORE (AP) — The New York Mets have arrived in Baltimore, carrying with them the Tom Seaver-Jerry Koosman pitching payload that will have to stop the Orioles' booming bats when the World Series opens at Memorial Stadium Saturday.

It'll be Seaver, the Mets' 25-game winner, against Mike Cuellar, the Orioles' 23-game winner, in the opener of the best-of-seven series which carries with it the biggest prize in World Series history—$15,000 to each member of the winning team.

The battle for that prize at the end of baseball's 100th anniversary season commences at 1 p.m. EDT, before an anticipated sellout crowd of 53,000 and a national television audience that will watch the proceedings via NBC.

The proceedings, in the eyes of Koosman, likely will be different than they were in the National League playoffs against Atlanta when neither of the two Met aces were able to finish what they started.

"I see no reason why we should have the same trouble," said Koosman. "We'll probably both go out and throw shutouts."

That, it would seem, would be a difficult task against a line-up that includes the Robinson boys—Frank and Brooks—and big Boog Powell, but the Mets may have a secret weapon in Manager Gil Hodges.

"Gil knows that team—he managed in that league," Seaver pointed out, noting Hodges' years at Washington. "He knows the hitters and their strengths and we'll rely on his judgment at least until we feel we have enough knowledge to do anything different."

Some of his knowledge was imparted by Hodges today after the Mets' first workout at Memorial Stadium. The Mets flew in Thursday night, then got their first look at the field after the Orioles had concluded their morning workout.

The Orioles, who whipped Minnesota in three straight to move through the American League playoffs and into the Series, will go with the same line-up they used against the Twins. But the Mets are changing to their right-handed hitting line-up with Cuellar pitching.

That batting order puts Ron Swoboda in right field in place of Art Shamsky, who hit .538 against the Braves; sends Al Weis to second base to replace Ken Boswell, who hit two homers in the playoffs; substitutes veteran Ed Charles for rookie Wayne Garrett at third base, and puts Donn Clendenon on first instead of Ed Kranepool.

Hodges said he might leave Boswell in against the Orioles' scheduled second starter, Dave McNally. Baltimore's third game pitcher against Gary Gentry likely will be Jim Palmer when the team's shift to New York and resume action Tuesday.

Monday will be an off day for travel. All games will start at 1 p.m., EDT, except for Sunday's second game at Baltimore, which has a 2 p.m. start.

While the Mets are undoubtedly the sentimental favorites throughout most of the country because of their sudden rise after so many years of ineptitude, the Orioles have been installed as the favorites for their first World Series since 1966.

In that one, the Orioles were the underdogs, but went on to whip the Los Angeles Dodgers in four straight with many of the same stars who this season helped produce 109 victories as Baltimore raced to the American League East title.

The biggest guns are mounted by Frank Robinson and Boog Powell. Robinson hit .308 during the regular season with 32 homers and 100 runs batted in. Powell lashed 37 homers and drove in 121 runs while hitting .304.

Overall, the Orioles hit .265 as a team compared to .242 for the Mets and outhomered them, 175-109. At the same time, the Orioles' pitching staff, which has not received publicity equal to the Mets', put together a 2.83 earned run average by comparison with New York's 2.99.

Robinson has noted those figures and says, "I think it will be a good Series." Then he adds pointedly, "But no more than five or six games.

"It's hard to believe that the Mets will hit our pitchers as hard as they did the Braves in the playoffs. In fact, there's no way they can. As for their pitchers, Seaver and Koosman could be tough, but I don't think our hitters will be held in check.

"We respect the Mets, but we think we're the best team in either league."

The Series this year closes the season on two-league, four-division system that forced the Mets and the Orioles to move through league playoffs before reaching the final best-of-seven series that will crown a champion.

But by moving through the playoffs, they have guaranteed themselves a minimum losing share of $10,000. The $10,000 to the losers and the minimum $15,000 to the winners are guaranteed—the first time they have not been based on gate receipts.

When the teams return to New York, they will play at Shea Stadium Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, if necessary. If no decision has been reached by then, Friday will be a day off and they will return to Baltimore for games six and seven.

Notre Dame Vs. Cadets

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Don Hoak, an immensely popular man in Pittsburgh, hoped to return here to manage the Pirates.

A star on Pittsburgh's last World Series winner in 1960, and later a broadcaster of Pirate games, Hoak was a frequent visitor to Forbes Field in the closing days of the baseball season last month.

Today, Hoak is dead, the victim of a heart attack at the age of 41 and, perhaps also a victim of the heartache that came when he didn't get the job he so coveted.

Danny Murtaugh, the manager of the 1960 championship team who ironically stepped down in 1964 for health reasons and later returned for a half season in 1967, was named Thursday as the Pirates' manager for 1970.

About two hours later, Hoak's body was found slumped over the steering wheel of his auto in which he had been chasing his brother-in-law's stolen car.

Hoak, a successful minor league manager the past two seasons, felt he was ready for the majors but refused to campaign for the Pittsburgh job. He didn't think it was proper, saying "the job should seek the man."

But he did meet with General Manager Joe Brown, a strong willed boss whose respect for Hoak's ability eroded his displeasure with Hoak's brashness.

At one time, it was believed Brown would not even consider Hoak but Hoak was in the running until the end. When Hoak didn't get the job, he was disappointed and planned to resign from the Pittsburgh organization to take a major league job as a coach, perhaps with Gene Mauch of Montreal for whom he worked at Philadelphia in 1967.

Brown, the man who gave Hoak his first chance to manage at Salem, Va., in the Carolina League last year, said he was "shocked immeasurably" at Hoak's death.

"He was a fine ball player and a fine man," Brown said.

Hoak, who won a pennant at Salem in what Brown called "as fine a job as I've ever seen by a first-year manager," moved to the Pirates' Columbus, Ohio, farm club this year and guided it to the final playoffs in the International League.

Phillip Piton, the minor headquarters are at Columbus, said he "admired Don both as a manager and as an individual."

"He had a great potential as a future major league manager," Piton said.

Dr. Ralph J. Stalter, the Allegheny County coroner, said Hoak died of an "acute coronary occlusion." He said there was "strong clinical evidence" of prior heart trouble, although Brown said he did not know Hoak was ill.

Hoak had planned to express publicly his disappointment at not getting the Pittsburgh job in a television interview Thursday evening. But he changed his mind when Murtaugh was hired.

"Don had too much respect for Murtaugh to go on and make a statement that might seem like sour grapes," said Dick Stockton, sports director of KDKA-TV and one of the last members of the news media to speak to Hoak. "He was looking forward to a new assignment and his wife, Jill Corey, who had sounded low earlier in the day, even cheered up herself."

Hoak and Miss Corey, a well-known singer, had one child, a 5-year-old daughter.

DANNY MURTAUGH

NEW YORK (UPI)—There are two members of the Notre Dame squad who are no strangers to Army coach Tom Cahill. He remembers them well, because he once had high hopes that both of them would be playing for, instead of against, him Saturday in Yankee Stadium.

Joe Theismann is one of the two. He's Ara Parseghian's choice to succeed Terry Hanratty as the Irish quarterback and Joe came out of spring training with the award for outstanding quarterback play. Joe played in Hanratty's place in the final three games a year ago, after Terry had been benched with a knee injury.

Theismann, a junior now, comes from South River, N.J. and Cahill was one of the many college coaches who tried to land the six-foot, 170 pounder. Instead, Theismann comes up to the Army game after a fine exhibition of passing, running and generalship against Michigan State last week.

The other familiar face to Cahill is that of Tom Nash, who is now a senior. Cahill tried his salesmanship on Nash when Nash was a fullback right in the city at Holy Cross High in Flushing. But Nash went west, switched from fullback to defensive end and to safety and will be tossing his 6-1, 235-pound frame at Cahill's runners.

DON HOAK

Cahill knows the rest of the squad just as well, if not personally. He shudders at the size advantage Parseghian's forces hold over the Cadets.

"Their offensive line averages 229," said Cahill. "Our defensive line averages 195. Their defensive line goes to 235, and ours is just 201. Just try your arithmetic on that.

"And then there's that little fellow Mike McCoy, the defensive tackle. They are kidding when they say he's only 274 pounds and 6-5. I happen to know he's 275 -and he looks 7-5."

Cahill, now in his fourth season as head man at the Point, senses a different attitude about the Notre Dame game to his squad. In the glory days of the rivalry, the annual clash with the Irish almost surpassed in intensity the rivalry with Navy. But today's players, while as eager and avid as any squad in the country to bring down Notre Dame, do not have the all encompassing fervor that the older grads recall of the days of Frank Leahy and Earl Blaik.

"The Irish had their Subway Alumni," Cahill recalls. "We still have our alumni too who remember what a frenzy this place would be before the Notre Dame game. It was fun, sure. And there's a mighty feeling about the game in the Corps, but to the men here now, Navy is the biggest one, and the Air Force game is coming on strong too. But don't let that fool you. Everyone at the Point wants to beat Notre Dame."

The odds against that happening Saturday are long. The betting line lists the Irish as 15 point favorites. Still, the game is being played here, and there are some at the Academy who subscribe to assistant Coach Bob Mischak's line: "The Jets, the Mets and now the Cadets."

FOR THE RECORD BOOKS: Born in Little Rock, Arkansas, 32 years ago, Brooks Robinson has been playing for one of baseball's winningest teams, the Baltimore Orioles, since 1955. In the most recent complete season, 1968, he set an American League record by leading third basemen in assists for the sixth year. In twelve straight All-Star games, Brooks fielded flawlessly. In five 162-game seasons, he missed just one game. He is the Orioles' player representative. Married in 1960, he and his wife Connie have three sons and a daughter.

"In sports or anything else — it's teamwork that pays off.

"I learned to be a team player as a youngster delivering newspapers. It taught me responsibility and gave me confidence. I wouldn't trade that experience for anything in the world."

NEWSPAPERBOYS DELIVER!

All of us respond to challenge. Meeting the challenge can mean handling a hot grounder or a tough pitch —or delivering newspapers in all kinds of weather. Brooks Robinson, former newspaperboy, might have become a top star without that early experience, but he learned from it that organized effort makes the difference between winners and losers.

As America's newspaperboys enjoy their annual day in the spotlight—on International Newspaperboy Day—the Treasury's U. S. Savings Bonds Division once again salutes them. Newspaperboys have helped sell many a Bond in community campaigns through the years. Many of them are Bond-buyers themselves. And they'll grow to man's estate with a thrift habit that brightens their futures and strengthens their country.

Maroon Eleven Faces Port Jervis in DUSO Opener

By MORT LAFFIN

KINGSTON — The Maroons of Kingston High School, fresh from an 8-0 victory over a hard-hitting Linton High eleven, travel to Port Jervis Saturday for the DUSO League Opener. Kingston was co-champions of the league last season, tying for the top spot with Newburgh Free Academy. The Goldbacks entertain Middletown High in the other DUSO League tilt. Both games start at 1:30 p.m.

Coach Frank Modica's lads have been hard-pressed to put something together offensively in the first two games. Part of this is due to the fact that Marshall Byrd, their great halfback, suffered a broken bone in his foot during the second quarter of the first game with Johnstown, a 20-12 loss.

Fill Byrd's Shoes

Since that time, the locals have been trying everybody in that spot to try and fill the gap left by Byrd. Some of the candidates have shown promise, but it appears that none of them is quite ready at this time to fill Marshall's shoes.

Jess Adams, Joe Reilly, George Geanuleus and John Tiano have been vying for the starting spot. In last week's game, Modica moved Geanuleus to starting defensive half and the young man did a fine job. However, he played very little on the offense. Adams and Reilly started at the running backs, along with powerful fullback Tony Cicoria. Tiano, who also starts on defense, did his share of lugging the leather.

Defense, particularly the line, has been the strong point for the Maroons thus far. These boys work long, hard hours and their diligence appears to have paid off as the locals have one of the most devastating defensive units in the Mid-Hudson Valley.

Boys Do the Job

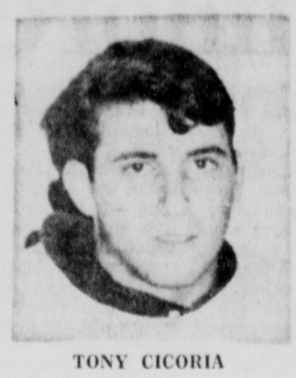

While all the boys do a fine job on this team, three men in particular have made the defense go so far. They are tackle Bob Clausi, end Paul Saehloff and linebacker Cicoria.

Clausi, at 6-4, 240 pounds, is a giant of a man. But his size does nothing to slow him down. Blessed with a great talent for diagnosing plays and an ability to move laterally at great speed, this college-material tackle ends up in the opposition backfield almost as much as the backs themselves.

Clausi is particularly adept at sorting out the runners until he comes to the one with the ball, a move that was made famous by the late Big Daddy Lipscomb, formerly of the Baltimore Colts and Pittsburgh Steelers.

BOB CLAUSI

TONY CICORIA

Saehloff Is Tough

Saehloff is also a big boy at 6-3, 185 pounds. He plays both ways for the Maroons and is rarely off the field more than a minute or two at one time. He has great reactions and an ability to turn in end runs to the tackles, thus blocking up the hole. Saehloff, like Clausi, and, for that matter the rest of the Kingston defenders, really likes contact, smashing a potential receiver at the line of scrimmage before stalking into the opposition backfield.

Cicoria is another powerfully-built lad at 6-0 and 210 pounds. Not only can he bull his way for the yardage on offense, he also does the same thing on defense, busting over the center from his middle-linebacker position to grab the quarterback before he hands the ball off.

Sorenson Ready

On the offense, quarterback Rick Sorenson showed that he had shaken his first game jitters of two weeks ago and played and called a fine game. Rick scored the winning touchdown on a fine run and threw for the two-point conversion. A fine passer as well as runner and signal-caller, Sorenson's 50-yard pass to end Dale Whitman, set up his scoring thrust as the half came to an end in the Linton game.

The Raiders, coached by Joe Viglione, play a wide-open type of game and are not as big as the visitors. Port is coming off a 3-0 win over Valley Central and a 6-0 victory over Pius X of Roseto, Pa. They have rushed for 393 yards, passed for 147 and allowed the opposition only 190 yards total offense in two games.

"It's going to be a tough, hard-fought battle," said Modica. "We are in pretty good shape, all things considered, for this one, but we must generate more offense in this game than we have in our two previous tilts if we are going to win it," he concluded.

Hoople Promises All-Perfect Picks

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
Original Wizard of Odds

HOOPLE MANOR — Egad! friends, here I am resting quietly at home making the list of this week's forecast and basking in the glory of last week's percentage with the area scores, which, at nine for 12 gives me my highest mark thus far at .750. However, I must admit that on the national scene, I didn't fare as well, hitting 25 right and 22 wrong for a .532. Quite low for me, but you will remember that I was in great physical and mental agony. Ha Kaff! Anyway, nobody is perfect.

Haarumph! Thus far I am 16-23 locally with a percentage of .696. On the national scene, my weighty assistant and I have pegged 107 right, 50 wrong and two ties for a .682 mark.

Both I and my rather ponderous partner are going out on a limb by saying that this week's area picks will be perfect and the national scores will hit over the .700 mark. Kaff, kaff, kaff.

Now for the local scores.

Kingston 14, Port Jervis 6

Kingston crossed me up again last week by defeating Linton High after I had decided that the injuries they suffered in the game with Johnstown would keep them from winning. The defense is strong and the offense is beginning to jell. Coach Frank Modica's Maroons are coming of age just in time to win their DUSO League opener.

Poughkeepsie 24, Saugerties 12

The Sawyers are having a hard time making adjustments and putting a combined offensive and defensive effort together. The Pioneers appear to be the strongest team in the DCSL, much too strong for the Sawyers.

-NEA-

Ace Receiver

Highland 28, Pine Bush 14

Cos Trapani, Bill Henderson, Tony Biancardi, John Indelicato, Doug Geer, Perry Monroe, Frank Crimi, Hardy Marx, a very tough line and coach Lem Atkins, enough said.

Marlboro 15, Rondout 8

The defending champion Ganders have had their troubles, losing to Highland and then winning over Wallkill, 6-2. Marlboro keeps rolling along on the arm of Dan Passante and the legs and educated toe of Bruce Partington. The Dukes want to win this one badly.

Liberty 14, Onteora 12

This one could go either way. Liberty figured too tough this year, but lost to Highland, 42-0. Onteora figured to be weak because of last year's lay-off and aren't. The Indians will not be quite as strong in this season's version of the Great Indian Wars with the Redskins. Hakaff!

Wallkill 6, New Paltz 6

Neither team has shown much offense so far and there is no reason to suspect that they will Saturday.

Our Lady of Lourdes 22, Cardinal Farley 6

Lourdes has good balance, both offensively and defensively and must be considered a threat for the DCSL Central Section title. The Cadets have a good, young coach and a tough defense, but neither one can score enough points in this one.

Arlington 28, Roosevelt 6

The Admirals will spoil the debut of the Presidents this year. The DCSL figures to boil down to the Poughkeepsie-Arlington encounter later this year. How do you like those onions? Haarumph!

Scores of other games will see Dover dumping Red Hook, 14-0, and Pine Plains taking Millbrook, 7-6, and Newburgh stopping Middletown, 8-6.

Now for some of the national picks.

On the national scene, I foresee one major upset, and it is a beauty. The big, bold Buckeyes of Ohio State and their brilliant coach, Woody Hayes, are in for a shocking surprise as the lads of Michigan State rise Phoenix-like from the ashes of their Notre Dame disaster to end Ohio State's winning streak at 16 games with a 28-27 win.

Other scores will be:

Houston 49, Arizona 16
Notre Dame 39, Army 9
Auburn 27, Clemson 7
Arkansas 35, Baylor 6
Yale 28, Brown 12
Buffalo 17, Dayton 16
Princeton 23, Cornell 3
Dartmouth 41, Penn 14
Harvard 14, Columbia 13
Purdue 26, Michigan 21
Georgia 29, Miss. 10
Air Force 25, North Carolina 6
Penn State 23, West Virginia 20
Pittsburgh 26, Navy 7
Stanford 36, Southern Calif. 33
Texas 28, Oklahoma 26
Alabama 38, Vanderbilt 8

Texas Squad Tabbed as Winner In Grid Tilt With Oklahoma

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—The name of the game is ball control so the name of the winner should be Texas.

But if they're going around giving nine points with Oklahoma out your way the same way they're doing here, it might not be a bad idea to take a small helping. I like Texas but I think Oklahoma will come closer than nine points.

James Street, the Longhorns' quarterback, operates their triple option Wishbone T which, in plain language, means he either pitches the ball back to his halfback, hands off to his fullback or keeps.

Street Not Perfect

Street makes some mistakes, but not many, and any time he does make one he doesn't let it get him down, a characteristic which impresses Texas coach Darrell Royal.

"A guy can't have his tail between his legs and adopt a negative attitude," Royal says. "You're gonna have some laterals get away from you and you're gonna make some bad decisions, but you've got to have the attitude I read Babe Ruth had when he was in a slump.

"I think the sportswriters were interviewing him and they asked him if he was worried about his slump. He said, "Why in hell should I worry? Those pitchers ought to be the ones worrying. Everybody knows and I know that I'm gonna hit so many home runs and get so many base hits. It's just a matter of time until I break out."

Other Games

In some of other big ones Saturday, the choices here are Kansas over Kansas State, Stanford over Southern California, Notre Dame over Army, Miami over Louisiana State and Ohio State over Michigan State.

East—Penn State over West Virginia, Syracuse over Maryland, Pitt over Navy, Yale over Brown, Princeton over Cornell, Harvard over Columbia and Dartmouth over Penn.

Midwest—Purdue over Michigan, Northwestern over Illinois, Indiana over Minnesota, Colorado over Iowa State, Missouri over Nebraska, Iowa over Wisconsin, Ohio U. over Xavier, Memphis State over Cincinnati and Toledo over Bowling Green.

South—Georgia over Mississippi, Tennessee over Georgia Tech, Mississippi State over Southern Mississippi, Auburn over Clemson, Florida over Tulane, Air Force over North Carolina, Wake Forest over Duke, Alabama over Vanderbilt, Virginia Tech over Kentucky and Virginia over VMI.

Southwest — Arkansas over Baylor, Houston over Arizona, Texas Tech over Texas A. & M., San Diego State over West Texas State, Wichita State over New Mexico State.

Far West—UCLA over Washington State, California over Washington, Arizona State over Utah, Wyoming over University of Texas at El Paso, Oregon over San Jose State, Colorado State over Utah State and New Mexico over Brigham Young.

The Pros

For some reason, I think there'll be several upsets in the NFL this Sunday. Records don't mean a thing any time Los Angeles and San Francisco get together and I wouldn't be unduly surprised if the Forty Niners put the first blemish on the Rams' record. Likewise, I feel the Chicago Bears will knock over the Minnesota Vikings. Bud Grant, the Vikings' coach, says they made more mistakes against Green Bay last week than they made the week before against Baltimore and you should've seen some of the mistakes they made the week before that against New York.

Dallas should beat Atlanta, Green Bay is the choice over Detroit, Washington over St. Louis, Cleveland at least 10 points better than New Orleans and New York over Pittsburgh in Sunday's other contests, with Baltimore tabbed to beat Philadelphia Monday in a game moved up because of the world series.

AFL

Buffalo over Boston and San Diego over Miami Saturday night, and Oakland over Denver, Cincinnati over New York and Kansas City over Houston Sunday.

Big Lew Scores 32; 20 Goaltending Calls

CHICAGO (AP) — The last thing Lew Alcindor and his Milwaukee Bucks coach, Larry Costello, want to do is show any outward signs of criticism of officials.

But those calls of goaltending against big Lew — well, now, how about it?

With the start of the National Basketball Association championship campaign still a week away, Alcindor, the blue ribbon rookie from UCLA has been called for goaltending 20 times in the five preseason games he has played.

Goaltending is knocking the ball away when it appears arced into the basket.

With his arms held up, the 7-foot several inch Alcindor looms like a control tower. It's pretty hard not getting in the way of the ball.

The Bucks trimmed the Chicago Bulls 114-105 Thursday night with 7,514 fans turning out in Chicago Stadium to get a peak at Alcindor's pro debut in the city. He scored 32 points, collected 20 rebounds and was called six times for goaltending.

"I can't argue on judgement calls," said Costello. "But I think some were questionable."

LEW ALCINDOR

Lew said he didn't keep count, but he seemed somewhat surprised that six times he was charged with goaltending.

"I am sure some were questionable," he said. "I know the refereee has a lot to do and I can't say he is at fault. But I know at one time I wasn't even going up and was called."

Alcindor played the full 48 minutes.

What does he think of the pro game and the transition to it from college?

"Well, the biggest difference is that the pros play a faster, tougher and a more intense game," he said. "Everybody enjoys scoring but I enjoy defense and what really counts is winning the game. I know I have the physical ability but I have to learn how to use it in the pro game. And I also have to learn how to use judgment."

All-American Beats State

Dove Solominski, a candidate for All-American at East Stroudsburg, stepped toward that achievement as he scored five goals against the State University's soccer team here as his team won by an 8-2 score.

Solominski scored his team's first three goals at the 14, 15:20 and 18 minute marks of the first period. Bob Davidson then scored at the 19:20 mark to close out the first period with Stroudsburg ahead 4-0.

Walter Blair put the Hawks on the scoreboard at the five minute mark of the second period. Jay Miller scored the fifth Stroudsburg goal at the eight minute mark. Solominski then pushed his fourth goal home with five minutes left in the half. The half ended 6-1.

Solominski wasted no time at the start of the third period as he scored for the fifth time with only three minutes passing. Jay Miller banged in his second goal of the day at the 17 minute mark of the third period ending the scoring for East Stroudsburg.

David Iyasere of the Hawks hit on a goal at the 19 minute mark of the third period making the day's scoring complete for both teams, 8-2 in favor of East Stroudsburg.

The Hawks were hampered heavily by injuries but, coach Bob Durkin said, "We don't have to blame the loss on our injury problems as we played a strong team and Solominski was simply devastating."

New Paltz expects to be at full strength against Cortland State this Saturday at home coming for the Hawks. The Hawks dropped a 4-3 decision to Cortland in their season opener last year and will be out for sweet revenge. Cortland brings a 4-1 record with them.

Golf Champs Honored At Wiltwyck Dinner

WILTWYCK — Dave Blakely and Arlene Spiesman, winners of the men's and women's club championship title at the Wiltwyck Country Club, were among those honored recently at the club's Annual Trophy-Dinner Dance.

Blakely and Mrs. Spiesman received trophies for their fine performances in the club's tournaments, as did the runners-up in both those events. Bill Van Aken was presented with the runner-up award in the men's division, with Betty Davenport being so honored in the women's division.

In the men's beaten eights section, Harold "Clancy" Van Aken was presented with the trophy as were all of the other flight winners.

Also receiving awards in the men's division were: Ken and Mark Brown, 18-hole father and son winners; George and John Antonietta, father and son winners; Babe Zaharias Cancer Memorial award, George Moore, runner-up, Bernie Cohen; Seniors — Class A, Charlie Kovacs; Class B, Jim Penrose; Member-guest, Charlie Kovacs and Frank Melitox.

Terry Allred won the Class A Junior award while Randy Spiesman took the Class B title. Murray Fletcher was awarded the President's Cup and Mike Abrams and Vic Randal won in the Twilight League.

Ella Whitmore was the women's Class B winner with Nancy Lowe as the runner-up. Pat Davenport won the Class C award, while Betty LeFevre took the runner-up spot in that class.

Virginia Carpinelli and Pat Hall were feted for winning the member-member event, while Nancy Lowe took the Babe Zaharias, Sylvia Voss Cancer Memorial trophy, with Boots Overbaugh as the runner-up.

Pappy and Harvey Bostic won the husband-wife award while the handicap winners of that event were Rosemary and Ray Nelson.

Nancy Lowe was feted as the most improved golfer as she dropped her handicap from 28 to 21.

Mary Treat scored the best in the Break 90 Pin event and was given the award for her fine play.

Pass, Punt and Kick Event To Be Held at Dietz Stadium

Time is running out for Kingston area boys to register in the Pass, Punt and Kick Competition. This competition, now in its ninth year, is open to boys 8 through 13 and is absolutely free. They will be competing for 18 handsome all-metal trophies to be awarded during the local competitions which are sponsored by Johnson Ford and the Kingston Jaycees.

Contestants will be competing against boys in their own age group in three football skills — punting, passing and kicking. Gold trophies will be awarded to the first place winners of each age group, silver to the second place winners, and bronze to the third place winners. There is no body contact and participating does not affect a boy's amateur standing.

Registration closes October 10, so all boys 8 through 13 are urged to go with their mom, dad or legal guardian to registration headquarters at Johnson Ford, Route 28, Kingston.

Everything is free and each boy gets a copy of the PP&K Tips Book which contains stories and tips by Don Meredith and Mike Clark of the Dallas Cowboys and Billy Lothridge of the Atlanta Falcons, and an introduction by Don Shula, the coach of the Baltimore Colts.

The local competition is scheduled to be held at Dietz Stadium on October 11, 1969 at 10:30 a.m. Local first place winners then go to Zone and then possibly, District, Area, Division and National contests where they compete for more trophies.

Also, all District winners go with their parents to area competitions held in NFL team stadiums. The 12 National finalists compete during half-time in the annual NFL Play-Off Game in the Orange Bowl in Miami, Florida. They and their parents also take an exclusive tour of Cape Kennedy, the history making site of the Apollo moon shots, and the Air Space Museum.

Pure Demon Is Monticello Winner

MONTICELLO

Pure Demon, a 6-year-old gelding piloted by provisional driver Jeno Jonas, got the lead just before the quarter in Thursday night's featured fourth race trot and never gave it up to come in first in 2:09.2.

It took Jonas and his charge, an offspring of Demon Rum-Lover's Lane, an eighth of a mile after the race's start to take command of the situation; but when the quarter pole went by in :33 flat, it was Pure Demon who set the mark. He also was responsible for the other fractions: 1:06.2 and 1:38.2.

Throughout most of the trot, Pure Demon was pressed by Texas Liz, driven by John Gilmour. Only once did Texas Liz give up the two hole, and that was briefly just before the half to Red's Boy, Joseph Pep driving.

Texas Liz quickly regained her spot, however, and finished second, a length behind Pure Demon. The show horse was Fedor Herbert, George Oakes in the sulky.

For Pure Demon it was his fourth win of the year in 15 starts. His other 1969 finishing achievements are 3 seconds and 3 thirds.

The daily double of 7 and 2 paid $71.40 at Monticello Raceway on Thursday night, and for both of the entries involved, it was their first win in a long, long time.

Both events were paces, and the opening race was captured by one of harness racing's venerables, Hank, a 13-year-old gelding driven by his owner and trainer, Lawrence Savi, around the mile in 2:12.3. For Hank, a son of Sampson Hanover-Heath, it was his first win in 2 years.

Last year, in 15 starts he racked up one third place finish. This year, in 8 times out, he has Thursday night's win as his only in-the-money finish. But as a 10-year-old Hank achieved the best winning time of his career in a commendable 2:05.2.

The second pace was captured by Wallkill Missy, a 2-year-old filly out of Adios H.-Velvet Miss, who under the guidance of Jim Grundy, won the first race of her career Thursday night in 2:09.3. In her earlier 1969 starts, Wallkill Missy has scored three show finishes. That she is capable of better things, is shown by her more speedy qualifying time recorded at Monticello earlier this season in 2:09.1.

Slots Are Open In Frost Valley

Fifteen hunting memberships are still available for hunting at Frost Valley beginning in the middle of November.

Frost Valley, formerly the Forstman Estate, consists of 2,200 acres of land in Ulster County, which is owned and operated by The Frost Valley YMCA. It is located between the town of Claryville and Big Indian. Frost Valley membership is limited only to those people who recognize the need for good sportsmanship, good fellowship, and good conservation.

Hunting at Frost Valley is the best in the Catskills. The take is about 400 percent greater than the New York State average. Members are limited to bucks only and be taken with rifles only. Limited accommodation are available on the property.

Additional information and applications may be obtained from the YMCA of Kingston and Ulster County, 507 Broadway, Kingston, N.Y. 12401.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE

TAKE NOTICE, that the Board of Fire Commissioners of the Town of Hurley Fire District #1, on October 1, 1969, adopted a resolution to establish a Capital Reserve Fund.

The purposes and effect of said resolution were to establish a "Capital Reserve Fund for Acquistion of a fire truck and related major equipment in Hurley Fire District #1" and direct the treasurer of said district to invest the moneys in special time deposit accounts in, or certificates of deposit issued by, a bank or trust company in order to accumulate all of the cost of a fire truck and related equipment, the maximum cost of which is estimated to be $35,000.00.

This resolution is subject to a permissive referendum.

Ray's Wins In Y League

Ray Chevrolet, the first team to crack the century mark this season in the YMCA "A" Division, romped over Conlin Oil 107-64 and remained undefeated with a 5-0 record.

Scholar Five won over Jack's Barber Shop 88-62 and have a 3-2 record to date.

Harry Pratt led the century mark attack for Ray's as he poured 32 points through the hoop for the top scoring honors of the night. Rocky Johnson meshed 21 points for Conlin.

A well balanced scoring attack by Scholar's proved too much for the Barber's as Vince Rua and "Twig" Terwilliger ripped the cords for 18 points each.

The results:

Ray Chevrolet (107)—Uhl 21, Williams 21, Pratt 32, Bondar 12, Fiore 19, Massa 2, Carpouzis.

Cal Hill Tops List

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football League had new individual leaders in passing, scoring and pass receiving but Calvin Hill, Dallas' Ivy League rookie, was still the top man in rushing.

The running back from Yale played only the first half against Philadelphia last Sunday when an ankle injury sidelined him. But in that half, he carried 10 times for 91 yards and a touchdown, caught three passes for 71 yards and passed once for 44 yards.

Hill, according to NFL statistics released today, has rolled up 299 yards in 51 attempts for a 5.9 average per rush.

The new leaders are kicker Fred Cox of Minnesota, scoring, with 34 points; Roy Jefferson of Pittsburgh in pass receiving with 20 receptions, and Craig Morton of Dallas in passing. Morton has completed 22 of 32 throws for 68.8 per cent, 383 yards, four touchdowns and an 11.97 average gain. He has not been intercepted.

Other departmental leaders include Lem Barney, Detroit, in punt returns with an average return of 27.3 yards; Mike Bragg, Washington, punting, on 14 for a 46.1 yard average, and Bo Scott, Cleveland, kickoff returns with an average of 38.3.

Lotvin Paces New Paltz Squad

ST. REMY

Paced by the fine shooting of Mike Lotvin, the New Paltz pistol team scored 1,111 points to win the weekly shoot for the Ulster County Pistol League. Lotvin hit a 286 total to lead the pack. Nelson Christinana, also of New Paltz, was second with a score of 282.

Others on the winning squad were Bud Confer with a 279 total and Lou Cheka at 264.

Other teams and scores were: Matchmates, 971; Ulster Heights, 953; Wawarsing, 1,052; Rondout Valley, 1,042; Upper Esopus, 1,045; Kingston, 1,076; Middletown, 1,074.

Wings of Nearco Wins at Woodstock

The Woodstock Riding Club held its first all-English horse show of the fall at the riding club grounds on the Ohayo Mountain Road in Woodstock.

Mary Minahan of Ruby, piloted her mount, Wings of Nearco, to the grand championship in the hunter division. Her performance brought the spectators to the rail more than once as she took the jumps effortlessly and gracefully. The reserve championship of the hunter division went to Mr. In-Between owned and ridden by Miss Bragg of Saugerties. Miss Bragg has demonstrated that age is no handicap in a show ring.

Marcia Landers of Woodstock pulled the surprise of the show by ridng Eagle Cody, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Donn Avallone of West Hurley, to the flat saddle division championship. Miss Landers once again proved that there is no substitute for fine horsemanship, since Eagle Cody had never been shown in a flat saddle division previous to the show.

Reserve championship went to Gypsy owned and ridden by Richard Kaufman of Hurley. Kaufman, a relatively newcomer to the show ring won the respect of the crowd by exhibiting that natural ability and hard work pay off in a job well done:

Ceremony for Mrs. Roosevelt Set Saturday

HYDE PARK

The Dutchess County Democratic Committee will mark the 50th anniversary of the involvement of women in the Democratic Party in a ceremony Saturday in Hyde Park.

County Democratic Chairman Glenn C. Van Bramer announced today that the County Committee would place a wreath on the grave of Eleanor Roosevelt in a ceremony at 2 p.m.

"Fifty years ago, in 1919," Van Bramer said, "the Democratic Party admitted women to our decision making levels. This involvement has guaranteed our party a constant infusion of new ideas, idealism, and leadership. No single woman—indeed, perhaps no single American—contributed so much to this party and nation as Eleanor Roosevelt. We hope that by remembering her birthday we can refresh our own sense of idealism."

Van Bramer said the public is invited to attend the ceremony.

Introducing A Used Car Guarantee . . . It Doesn't Come With Every Car

It's a 100% guarantee. Not one of those "we pay-half-you-pay-half deals."

And it comes only with used cars that pass the Volkswagen 16 point Safety and Performance test.

This is how it works. When we get a car as a trade in, we give it the inspection. Check it out completely. If it passes, we tune up, tighten, repair or replace everything that needs tuning up, tightening, repairing or replacing.

Then we guarantee it 100% repair or replacement of all major mechanical parts* for 30 days or 1,000 miles.

What kind of cars get our guarantees? All kinds. Chevys, Fords, Ramblers, VWs. (We get all kinds of trade-ins for new Volkswagens).

So. The next time somebody tries to sell you a used car that's "just like new," ask about the guarantee. Then remember us.

No, our used cars aren't "just like new." No used car can be. But no used cars could be in better shape, either.

Dear Abby

Girls Hate Stepfather

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1969 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: My first husband died, leaving me with two daughters, ages 2 and 6. I stayed single for six years. We lived with my parents while I worked, so naturally the girls are spoiled rotten.

My problem: About a year ago I married a wonderful man who had never been married before. Abby, he couldn't be nicer to me and the girls, but they treat him shamefully. They say, "We don't have to listen to you—you aren't our REAL father." They can be sweet as pie to him when they want something, but after they get it, they go back to their hateful ways.

He has tried so hard to make them like him. I love this man, Abby, and I hate to see him hurt. What can I do?

NEEDS HELP

DEAR NEEDS: First, may I take exception to your statement, "We lived with my parents while I worked, so naturally the girls are spoiled rotten." Why, "naturally"? Many working mothers have instilled respect and discipline in their children, so don't blame your parents.

From what you say, your daughters are out of your control, so I advise professional counseling. Inquire of their school principal. Otherwise, face the alternatives. Your daughters will force you to choose between them and your good husband. Or your husband will find life with you and your daughters intolerable and HE will make a choice, and take a walk. And who could blame him?

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a salesman and he is out of town for a week at a time. He usually calls me twice during the week to find out how things are at home. I appreciate these calls, but I never know when to expect them.

This morning he called me at 7, raving mad. He said he had been trying to reach me since 6 o'clock last night, and was worried half out of his mind.

Last evening my neighbor and I took our children to the circus, after which we had coffee at her house and I stayed to visit for about an hour. Then I came right home and I went to bed. I must have slept so soundly I didn't even hear the phone ring.

Must I stay home every night in anticipation of my husband's calls? That's all we ever fight about.

GREAT FALLS WIFE

DEAR WIFE: First you and your husband should agree on a "time" when he is to call you. Then, ask your telephone company to provide you with the loudest bell they have. And it wouldn't be a bad idea to have your hearing checked.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Last Sunday, while driving on a well-traveled freeway on the outskirts of town, I noticed two cars ahead of me. One was a new convertible containing three young girls. The other was a sedan in which five young men were riding. These kids were "racing," and passing each other at a high rate of speed, then slamming on the brakes and stopping in front of each other.

The girl was a very poor driver. She lost control of the car once, and went off the highway, but got back on again. The kids in both cars were laughing and shouting back and forth to each other.

Abby, a nightmarish accident involving not only these two cars, but others could have occurred easily. I wanted to stop and phone the highway patrol but my wife told me to mind my own business. What would you have done?

STILL SHAKING

DEAR STILL: I would have told my wife that the safety of innocent motorists (and even the lives of those foolish kids) were indeed MY business, and I would have stopped and called the police.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90060.

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY
October 11, 1969

TEEN DATING HINTS: New moon in Libra tonight conjoins Jupiter and makes this a time of sensitivity, romance — and much talk of going steady. LIBRA holds the spotlight while ARIES arrives at an understanding. Best hint for dating is a musical evening. Emphasis is on innovations; church bazaar, event where proceeds go to charity. Romance is strong indication for GEMINI, while VIRGO could get stuck with the check. SCORPIO has a secret and must be discreet. SAGITTARIUS probably will have the most fun tonight—and should encourage friends to display their talents.

* * *

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Good news in legal area indicated. What is decided is likely to be in your favor. Authorities favor your argument. Be patient and strive to display charm.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): New moon accents better understanding with neighbors, associates and co-workers. Wonderful day for reunion. Share knowledge and show you do want to be of constructive aid.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Romance and creativity are highlighted. Give of yourself—and you will also receive. Key is to stress independence, originality. A new contact today proves of special benefit.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Excellent for special occasion at home. Be with persons who provide inspiration. Expand facilities. Know that your potential is great. AQUARIUS individual plays important role.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Much movement indicated. You are restless and there is fun and frolic. But don't exceed limit in budget, eating or drinking. Leave details to others.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22): Avoid extravagance. Obtain hint from LEO message. Be sure of facts. Read between the lines—study fine print. You can gain if a shrewd observer. Act accordingly.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22): Cycle is high. Special accolade or honor could be presented. Watch diet. You exhibit tendency to overdo in celebrating. Personal magnetism is high; opposite sex is attracted.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Excellent for pleasure through theater, charitable activities. Share what is beautiful. Avoid airing complaints. You gain most today through charm and diplomacy.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): This is a time when many of your desires are fulfilled. One who means much to you in emotional sense displays affection. You gain fulfillment. Exude good will.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19): Not ordinary work day but there is business activity. You can learn things which help elevate your status. Co-operate in community projects. Display ability to handle responsibility.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Gain shown through co-operation with CANCER individual. Accent on travel, reading and outlining of personal philosophy. Find out where you are headed and why.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): New view is necessary. Includes arrangement with mate, partner, affecting finances. Strive for creative thinking. Be willing to change your mind toward progress.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are intuitive, capable of teaching and of grasping future trends. Boost in morale is due as emotional burden evaporates.

TEEN FORUM

LONG WAIT: (Q:) Jack is 18. I am 16. We want to marry after I graduate from high school in 1970. Then I want to go on to college.

I have the money for my tuition and Jack has a steady job that will support us both.

My parents don't think I should marry until I get out of college, but I don't want to wait that long.

Jack and I love each other too much.

What do you think?—H. in Detroit.

(A.) If you and Jack both planned to go to college I would not say don't get married, although you would find the going tough. I know, because my husband and I took that road through college.

But if you go to college and Jack doesn't, you may look at him differently after four years. And he may look at you differently.

Your parents are wise in wanting you to wait to marry.

TURTLE TROUBLE: (Q.) I have turtle trouble. My mother read an article about turtles having bugs or something, and she says I have to get rid of mine.

I've had mine a year and can't bear to part with them! —M.R. in Alabama.

(A.) It is true turtles can carry oganisms that may cause illness in human beings.

You should listen to your mother instead of your heart in this matter.

Opening lead—♠ 7

"The Dallas Aces" picked up 500 points, or 11 IMPs, by bidding a 21-point slam on the 16th hand of the match. The bidding by Bob Hamman and Mike Lawrence shows why this young team was able to crush the older New York experts, who managed to get to game only.

Hamman's one-spade response with the North cards is correct. In modern American bidding, you do not go to the two-level in a new suit without at least 10 points in high cards or a very unusual hand.

Needless to say, Bob was happily surprised when Mike rebid in clubs. His hand moved way up in strength and he was able to use one of the bids worked out by "The Dallas Aces" in their bidding laboratory. He jumped to four diamonds. A jump to three diamonds would have been a force and shown a strong heart-diamond hand. This extra jump was a fragment bid and set clubs as the suit to play the hand in while, at the same time showing a singleton diamond.

Not that these bids are the exclusive property of "The Dallas Aces." Most modern bidders use them in some form or another.

Since the four-diamond bid had established clubs as the suit to play in, Mike's four-heart call merely said, "I am interested in the slam and have the ace of hearts." Then Bob's four-spade bid merely showed the ace of spades and said nothing about a rebiddable spade suit.

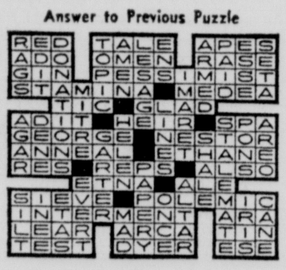

Mike closed the bidding at six clubs. With both ace and king of hearts, he would undoubtedly bid the five hearts to show that holding.

The slam wasn't an absolute cinch. Mike won the spade, drew trumps with two leads and went after the hearts. This enabled him to set up his fifth heart and come to a total of 12 tricks.

Hope, Laugh-In Still Tops

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—It's a little early to make conclusive judgments about the popularity of shows in the new television season. But the national video ratings do indicate some apparent trends of a relatively solid nature.

Bob Hope, for instance, is still at the top of the heap. His first NBC-TV special was No. 1 in the ratings. The same network's "Laugh-In" continued, meanwhile, to rank as the most popular series. And CBS-TV's "Charlie Brown" cartoon, based on the "Peanuts" comic strip characters, came in No. 5, showing that series of animated specials is still very hot.

To hardly anyone's surprise, Bill Cosby's new NBC-TV series finished very high in the ratings, No. 4. NBC-TV also, by the way, will present on Nov. 12 the first animated special based on characters from Cosby's monologues. It's called "Hey, Hey, Hey—It's Fat Albert," and it is a half-hour in length.

One of the quiet hits of the early season is ABC-TV's new one-hour medical series, "Marcus Welby, M.D.," and what it apparently proves above all is the continued great popularity of star Robert Young.

Another new series finishing high was ABC-TV's widely praised "Room 222," about a Negro history teacher and his associates in an integrated high school. Also doing well was ABC-TV's new 90-minute series of original tales, "Movie of the Week." Over at CBS-TV, meanwhile, Jim Nabors' new variety hour, despite almost unanimous pans, came in strong as his "Gomer Pyle" success held over—at least early in the season.

Some standby series also held up well, among them "Gunsmoke," Red Skelton and last year's hit, "Julia." Skelton, by the way, will offer a special comic tribute Oct. 28 to his guest John Wayne, who is marking his 40th year in movies.

CBS-TV's Doris Day, in the new ratings, continued to be a mystery, finishing rather poorly despite being switched into the network's powerhouse Monday lineup. Debbie Reynolds' new NBC-TV series, meanwhile, finished with only a respectable rating. But CBS' new Leslie Uggams show did reasonably well against "Bonanza."

The weekly movies came in strong again. And Flip Wilson's NBC-TV special was a big hit. But ABC-TV's two new 45-minute series, "Music Scene" and "The New People"—aimed at knocking off "Laugh-In"—were simply murdered, ranking near the bottom.

Nixon Embarks on New Viet Review

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has ordered his two chief peace negotiators back from Paris for consultations on the eve of next Wednesday's nationwide anti-Vietnam war demonstrations.

Nixon is embarking on a new review of Vietnam policy with a meeting Monday or Tuesday with Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and his deputy in Paris, Phillip Habib.

The President also has scheduled a Saturday talk with Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird, Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, who returned recently from an inspection tour of the war zone, and the rest of the joint chiefs.

Besides closely coinciding with Wednesday's "Moratorium Day" protests against the war, the latest Nixon moves came as U. S. authorities in Saigon announced American battle deaths last week totaled 64—the lowest in nearly three years.

White House sources said the administration has made no conclusive assessment as to whether the recent downward trend in casualties is intended by North Vietnam and the Viet Cong as a peace signal.

But they held by their previously stated position that the level of American casualties is a direct reflection of enemy activity.

The State Department Wednesday said the battlefield lull presented an "element of uncertainty" concerning enemy intentions.

"We would like some word from Vietnam as to what the reasons for the lull are," State Press Officer Carl Bartch said.

Some sources said because the latest round of consultations immediately precedes a revival of war protests, there was reluctance inside the administration to publicly draw hopeful signs from the most recent battlefield developments lest they turn sour.

Ronald L. Ziegler, White House press secretary, said Lodge and Habib were ordered home for "consultations and instructions."

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird, at a Thursday news conference, said American troops had been given new orders in August to strike the enemy before they were hit, a policy labeled "protective reaction."

Laird was fuzzy on whether this meant U. S. forces now were to avoid contact wherever possible—a stand that, if true, could have as much to do with lower recent casualty rates than activity by the other side.

Laird was cagey about possible significance in the latest battlefield lull, saying for the obvious benefit of Hanoi, The place to give signals is in Paris."

Meanwhile, in Saigon the UPI reported U. S. paratroopers who are replacing Marines along the northern front fought North Vietnamese troops near the Demilitarized Zone in one of five skirmishes reported this morning.

Spokesmen for the American Military Command said the paratroopers killed six guerrilla soldiers in the fight one mile south of the zone Thursday while losing one killed and one wounded themselves.

The fight followed by 16 hours a North Vietnamese mortar and ground attack in the same vicinity that killed eight U.S. Marines and wounded 16. Five guerrilla bodies were found after the battle.

Paratroopers of the 101st Airborne Division have been moved north recently to replace U.S. Marines who have been tabbed for withdrawal under President Nixon's plan to pull out 35,000 more GIs by Dec. 15.

Military spokesmen said the level of fighting across South Vietnam remained low, with six overnight shelling attacks against towns and Allied military bases causing light damage and casualties.

In other actions reported by the U.S. Command:

—Salvos from Marine artillery 25 miles south of Da Nang killed 21 Communist troops who had been sighted moving in small groups in foothills overlooking the Que Son Valley.

—Troops of the 82nd Airborne Division, also to be withdrawn by Dec. 15, reported killing one guerrilla 15 miles northwest of Saigon in a two-hour battle that wounded six Americans.

—American soldiers from the 199th Light Infantry Brigade clashed twice with Communist soldiers, 32 and 55 miles northeast of Saigon, and killed a total of six against 10 GIs wounded.

Following up these fights, U.S. B52 bombers dropped 450 tons of bombs onto suspected Viet Cong and North Vietnamese positions along the Cambodian border northwest of Saigon, headquarters said.

The Haynsworth Controversy-- From Chambers to Cloakroom

WASHINGTON (AP) — The battle over Clement F. Haynsworth's nomination to the Supreme Court shifted today from committee chambers to the Senate cloakroom where the outcome appeared to rest with some two dozen wavering senators.

In the aftermath of Judiciary Committee approval of the nomination Thursday opponents appeared to have the edge in the floor.

A survey by the Associated Press, combined with positions obtained from Senate sources, showed at least 46 votes against the nomination, 33 for it and 21 undecided.

It was clear, however, the situation could change dramatically for a number of reasons before the nomination comes to the floor, probably not for two weeks.

An ABA Review

For one, the American Bar Association leadership decided Thursday to meet sometime in the next few days to review its position on Haynsworth, for the past 12 years a member of the 4th U.S. Court of Appeals in Richmond, Va.

The ABA endorsed the nomination last month during Senate hearings. A change in position could have significant impact.

Floor debate also cannot begin until the Judiciary Committee files majority and minority reports. Some senators said they would wait for these before making up their minds.

An example of the fluid nature of the situation was Maryland Republican Charles McC. Mathias.

A member of the Judiciary Committee, Mathias abstained Thursday when the committee climaxed a two-hour closed meeting by voting 10 to 6 to report the nmination to the floor.

Then in late afternoon he sent a letter to Judiciary Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., saying he wanted to be recorded against commttee approval of the nomination.

Grave Doubts

"There are grave doubts remaining on the record," Mathias said.

Saying the ABA meeting underlines this uncertainty, Mathias said while the doubts "remain in a question of this kind, they must be resolved in favor of the public."

A Mathias aide said later, however, the senator's committee vote did not mean Mathias would definitely vote against confirmation.

Among other head counts, one reportedly done for the Democratic leadership put the vote at a "rock bottom" 54 against Haynsworth with another nine leaning that way.

Another reportedly done for Philip A. Hart of Michigan, the ranking Democratc opponent of Haynsworth on the Judiciary Committee, had 45 "hard" votes against, 35 for, 10 leaning against, five leaning for and five undecided.

One midwestern senator, who nobody even bothered contacting because they assumed he was backing the administration, told the Associated Press he was so angry over the nomination he was about ready to speak out and would definitely vote against.

This same senator said still another influential Republican who has been saying he was still uncommitted also was about ready to come out against Haynsworth.

The judge himself was described Thursday by one of his strongest and most vocal supporters as "disillusioned . . . frustrated."

South Carolina Democrat Ernest Hollings said he would be surprised if Haynsworth withdrew from the fight now but that he was no longer flatly ruling out the possibility.

In a free-wheeling news conference defense of Haynsworth, Hollings also under scored one of the most bizarre aspects of the controversy.

Hollings criticized the administration for putting him, a Democrat, in the position of being a prime mover for a nomination made by a Republican President. This shows a lack of any strong leadership of its own in the Senate, Hollings indicated.

Hollings cited the defection earlier this week of Republican Whip Robert P. Griffin and said that circumstances have changed so much in recent days that confirmation by as ltle as one vote "would be quite a victory."

Hollings, in still another somewhat bizarre development, challenged Sen. Birch Bayh to a televised debate on the nomination.

One network even jumped right in offering time for what would have been an unprecedented performance.

The Indiana Democrat, a leading Haynsworth opponent, turned Hollings down for the time being, saying that "In light of the serious nature of our responsibility to advise and consent to the nomination of a justice . . . we should do our best to debate this matter in a deliberate and dispassionate manner on the floor of the Senate."

SDS Faction Nursing Its Wounds

CHICAGO (AP) — Young radicals from the Students for a Democratic Society moved into a suburban seminary Thursday night after plans for a mass rock concert and threats of continued disturbances fizzled.

The Weatherman, most militant faction of the SDS, appeared to be nursing its wounds after violent street battles with police Wednesday night and Thursday morning.

With 2,000 National Guardsmen on alert in armories around the city, almost 1,000 persons assembled in Lincoln Park for the rock concert. Police swept through the park early in the evening and announced it was closed.

Then they withdrew to the edge of the park, and nearly everyone had gone by the regular closing hours of 11 p.m. There were no violent incidents and only a handful of arrests on disorderly conduct charges.

The SDS had said its four-day "national action" in Chicago would consist of the most "militant demonstrations in the history of the New Left." Spokesmen for the group predicted 5,000 to 15,000 persons would demonstrate in Chicago over the four days.

However, when the radicals took to the streets Wednesday night, smashing windows, windshields and swinging chains and clubs at police, the number of demonstrators was no more than 500.

Of the 1,000 persons in the park Thursday, most appeared to be curiosity-seekers and passers-by.

The Weatherman faction, seeking recruits in its battle with the Revolutionary Youth Movement II faction of SDS, called the demonstrations to coincide with the trial in U.S. District Court of eight men charged with conspiracy to incite riots at the 1968 Democratic Convention.

RYM II disavowed the Weatherman disruptions and called its own demonstrations. At one, about 150 persons appeared Thursday in the plaza of the Federal Building where the trial is being held. RYM II held another rally later at a West Side factory. There were no incidents or arrests at either.

One of the defendants in the trial, Abbie Hoffman, 32, a Yippie leader, was in the park Thursday evening cracking jokes with some plainclothes policemen.

Some 150 of the Weathermen moved into Garrett Theological Seminary on the campus of Northwestern University in Evanston. About midnight, however, they agreed to limit their number staying overnight to 30, and seminary officials agreed to try to find housing elsewhere for the others.

Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie called on the National Guard Thursday afternoon after its commander, Gen. Richard T. Dunn, witnessed Wednesday night's clashes and reported the situation was "serious."

GI Clubs--Tale of Girls, Money Kickbacks

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Mafia-like syndicate of sergeants demanded girls as well as money in kickbacks for booking entertainers, buying food and liquor for the Army night clubs they ran for troops in Vietnam, senators have been told.

A curvaceous Australian dancer who was a show business booking agent told a Senate subcommittee Thursday virtually all custodians of Army club systems in Vietnam demanded a percentage from those selling supplies to the clubs.

In a war where most soldiers count the days until they can go home, these sergeants—confident of making at least $150,000 a year in graft—extended their tours as long as possible, she said.

The witness, June I. Skewes, 34, of Sydney, Australia, her long, ash-blonde hair tied back with a tangerine-colored ribbon, told the Senate's rackets subcommittee she was blacklisted and squeezed out of business after word leaked she had complained to military authorities.

The sergeants who ran the clubs, which do hundreds of millions of dollars in business a year, were "for sale to the highest bidder," said Miss Skewes, who is known professionaly as June Collins.

She said the bids came in the form of rolls of American money, villas in Saigon, liquor, long and expensive trips, free entertainment and women.

"In my experience in Vietnam, going back to 1967, I do not know of a single (Army) club custodian who does not receive kickbacks," Miss Skewes said.

"It's also as filthy a racket as I've ever heard of," she told a hearing room in which all seats were filled and spectators stood in every vacant space. "The profits come from the pockets of American GI's," she said.

"It becomes obvious that those who are sacrificing and dying are paying a very deep penalty," said Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn. "For generally this dirty little war seems to be conducted in an atmosphere of corruption."

Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., a veteran of the 9th Infantry Division, one of the units whose club custodians are accused of taking kickbacks said: "Those responsible for the deterioration of a proud division should be brought to justice and properly punished."

Miss Skewes said kickbacks averaged $25 a night for a show costing $150 and 10 per cent or more for more expensive entertainment.

She said some custodians were "gentlemanly" about the graft they demanded.

But she described others as "rude, crude and greedy." She said many of these men "demand sexual favors from the businesses they buy from."

"I don't know if girls were provided only for the custodians or if sergeant majors shared in that kind of kickback too. I presume they did. The practice of providing a girl was started to my knowledge, by Miss Chung, a Korean girl.

"Her company was Chung Promotions and it was common knowledge she provided girls for custodians who booked her show."

But, she said, emphasizing her words with both hands raised: "I did not provide girls for custodians or for anyone else."

Discomfiting Small Town Expose

THE DORP By Frieda Arkin. Dial. $6.95.

It's one more fictional small town, Kuyper's Dorp, hidden by trees in upstate New York. Frieda Arkin gently, deftly plucks aside the leaves and looks in.

Do some denizens of the dorp smack of stereotype? The town editor labors over his folksy editorials ... a teen-ager gets pregnant in a convenient crypt .. a lady has a change-of-life affair with her high school sweetheart ... a batty old dame, dire foe of DDT, bugs fellow townsfolk.

But what other fictional editor nightwalks to stave off mind-busting metaphysical dreams? What teen-ager, riding trains, demurely confounds middle-aged men by poring over thick tomes in statistics—or Amazon dialects? That adulteress is no dumb little housewife, but an anthropology teacher. And besides, she loves her husband. That batty old lady, it becomes apparent, is the sanest person in Kuyper's Dorp—and the toughest.

Then there's the pig-raising hypochondriac who's writing a medical dictionary ... the culinary genius of the corner lunch stand who serves up the most poisonous tongue in town ... the Methodist minister who calls for mass confession, but can't turn up anybody who'll say "I'm a sinner."

All this and more Mrs. Arkin sees not as a beady-eyed Peeping Tom, but as a compassionate Recording Angel with a funnybone.

If Mrs. Arkin's is slice-of-life writing, life gets sliced pretty thick a couple of times. A deer crashes the lover's car, which hits and kills the wrecked husband, who's wooing a lonely road. And a storm blocks a television channel just in time to save face for the town drunk. Still, such coincidence most readers can forgive.

The author is no unsung apparition from the kitchen table typewriter. Her short stories have made the literary quarterlies and "Best American Short Stories." Her first novel should seriously discomfit would-be writers about small towns for some time to come.

Luise Putcamp Jr.

Painting Display

William E. Schuler, Hopewell Junction, vice president of Dutchess County Art Association and a member for more than 20 years, presently is displaying his oil painting in County National Bank's office at Hopewell Junction. Paintings may be viewed during regular banking hours until November 21.

Mr. Schuler is a graduate of the Pratt Institute, Brooklyn, and has studied art in the Art Students League, both in New York City and Woodstock; Bethlehem Art School under John Gould and Coulton Waugh, and at the Wayman Adams School at Elizabethtown. He also studied under Henry Hensche of Provincetown, Mass. and local artist, Emile Walters.
